Report of the School Board

During the year just past, the Goodwin school has been conveyed to the Adams; the Carr to the village and the So. Union to the Ell. As regards the Goodwin and the South Union we recommend that the same plan be followed this year. Although the Egypt school has failed to maintain the required average of attendance, we recemmend that the town vote favorable to its continuation. We also recommend that the policy of school house improvement be continued, and that to that end provision be made for the following repairs and improvements. For the convenience of the voters we have placed opposite each item an estimate of its cost.

| For Gale shed repairs | $ 50 00 |
| For Madawaska, Shingling and windows | 25 00 |
| For Village, windows, paint, part of floor | 75 00 |
| For Egypt, paint | 25 00 |
| For Adams, foundation | 35 00 |
| Miscellaneous | 40 00 |
| Total | $250 00 |

In addition to the above named repairs we advise that as many school houses as possible be equipped with new desks and seats.

To meet the needs of our schools for the coming year we recommend the following appropriations:

| For support of schools | $800 00 |
|------------------------|-----------------|
| High School tuition | 100 00 |
| Repairs | 250 00 |
| Supplies | 25 00 |

Superintendent's Report

Gentlemen of the School Board:

In accordance with the provisions of Chapter XV. Sec. 39 of the School Laws of Maine, I hereby submit the annual report of the Superintendent of Schools.

A general and detailed study of the local school situation discloses two classes of facts; of which, the one indicates progress already realized, the other, several immediate needs whose satisfaction is essential to keep our schools in step with the lines of progress emphasized by the state department of education in its present campaign for the betterment of the rural schools.

On the one hand are found (a) a better qualified and better paid teaching force (b) buildings that have been improved in appearance as regards both exterior and interior (e) consolidation and transportation as are established policy (d) a definate course of study (e) better methods of teaching with especial reference to reading; on the other hand, effectiveness of school work is discounted (a) by antiquated and uncomfortable schooroom furniture (b) by too little attention to matters of lighting, heating, ventilation and sanitation (c) by failure to secure active and enthusiastic cooperation between the school and the house.

In consequence of these facts, it seems evident that a progressive program for the ensuing year should include at least two lines of attack, the first, to secure even greater efficiency as regards methods of instruction, the second to secure such improvements in schoolroom furniture as will tend to advance rather than retard the aims of education, which are that the children's minds may be developed and trained, their morals cultivated, their health cared for, their manners improved. The test for every educational device should be—is it for the best interests of the pupils.

PARENTAL RIGHTS

It is no little temptation to take this opportunity to point out the duties of the parents, which are expressed or implied by this government, as regards the schools, but I have a feeling that more good may be accomplished now by placing the greater stress on the rights of parents. To my best knowledge and belief the following transcript is a correct and fairly complete statement thereof.

"First, they have the right that their children be provided with comfortable quarters, that their health be not endangered by sitting in the cold or in a draughty room or in unventilated atmosphere, that their forms be not distorted by backless benches, or by desks that are too high for the arms or otherwise unsuitable."

As regards this riglet, as no complaints have been made to the superintendent, he assumes that the parents are either ignorant of this right or too slow in demanding them. "Second, they have the right that they be treated with consideration; that more shall not be required of them than their years and experience will justify; that they be spoken topical adjuly action 37 to with kindness and gentleness such as a dairy man would require for his cow, that they shall not be exposed to contaminating influences: that they shall be taught to treat others kindly and shall receive right treatment in return: third, that they shall be well taught in books, in morals and in behavior; that their instruction shall be suited to their understanding and fitted to their usefulness in life; that the example of the teachers shall be worthy for the pupils to follow; fourth, they have a right to be informed of the needs of the children in whatsoever pertains to their effective school work, if they are falling behind in their classes, if they are negligent of their duties, or if they are habitually tardy or loitering on the way to or from school; fifth: they have a right to cooperate with the teachers in every way possible and to be shown how they may do this to the best advantage."

"All these rights are important and inviolable and must be respected."

TEACHERS

Ten different teachers have been employed during the past year in seven different schools. There were two resignations in the summer and two in the fall. Three have been retained in the same school throughout the year. All have been found worthy of commendation for the earnest, zealous and interested manner in which their work has been done though, compelled, as they have been, to work under adverse and trying conditions. To each and every one I desire to extend my appreciation for their efforts in the work they have undertaken.

CONVEYANCE

I am sure that the advantages from the policy of consolidation are so well understood as to need no rehearsal by me. But as regards transportation I am not so sure that parents and school officials have a common understanding of the rights involved on the one hand or the duties imposed on the other. Hence I have taken the liberty to quote from an interpretation of the transportation law from a portion of the Maine School Report of 1907.

"The law imposes the obligation of carrying pupils only in cases where it becomes necessary in the judgement of the school committee,

This transportation may be furnished, according as the committee deems necessary, for all or a part of the distance between the home and the school. It may appear necessary to furnish it for one child and not to another for the same distance, because of extreme youth, or physical disability in the case of the first. It may seem necessary to secure conveyance for certain seasons and for stormy days and not for the pleasant seasons and fine weather. This power of discrimmination is placed by the statute entirely with the local school authorities."

In the same report considerable emphasis is placed on the advantage to the pupils under such a plan, of proper supervision by the teacher or other reliable person during the noon hour.

VERY YOUNG CHILDREN

In a lecture before the Harvard Medical School, Professor John Lovett Morse recently said,

"Sending very young children to school impairs their vitality. The longer they live like animals, the better they develop. If they must be sent to school they should be allowed to play. The best teachers should be in the kindergartens and not in the colleges. When a lad gets into college he should to a great extent be able to teach himself.

TEXT BOOKS

No changes have been made in the basic texts. The schools are fairly well supplied and the books are reported in fair condition.

I believe an appropriation of $100.00 for books, will be sufficient for the ensuing year and also to pay one or two bills now outstanding from orders of former superintendents.

TUITION OUT OF TOWN

From the common school fund tuition and conveyance have been allowed for Elwin Holt in the Hartland schools.

From the number of secondary school scholars attending out of town institutions, at least $100.00 will be needed for secondary school tuition out of town.

AGRICULTURAL CLUBS CONTESTS

Late in the fall by the kindness of the Trustees of Harland Fair, I was asked to devise some scheme of school exhibits whereby the children of this district might compete for prizes.

In order not to over reach by attempting too much, it has seemed best for the first year to restrict the exhibits to the fields of agriculture and again to the growing of a single crop.

I desire to incorporate in my report the following plan for your inspection and criticism. For the details of the plan I wish to acknowledge my indebtness to Mr. Clarence J. Dunlap, Instructor of Agriculture at Hartland Academy.

THE PLAN

Membership in clubs limited to pupils in the school (or under 16 years of age.)

Contest limited the first year to corn only.

Cash prizes of $3.00, $2.00, and $1.00, in each town, open to any pupils.

Certificate of Merit to be awarded to prize-winner in each school district, where there are at least two contestants.

Diploma to be given to school in each town which has the best exhibit as a whole.

Area of plot to be not less than 10 sqr. rods, nor more than 40 sqr. rods.

All work (with the exception of plowing and such other, as is impossible on account of lack of strength) to be done by contestant.

Awards to be made on the following basis: 50% exhibit of 10 ear sample 50% net profit on basis of 1 acre

100%

Seed to be furnished when desired.

Directions for raising crop to be given to teachers who will distribute them among the contestants.

GALE—The spring term in this school was taught by Mr. Jesse Farnum, he was re-elected for the fall term but decided to resign to attend business college. To fill the vacancy, Miss Ruby Eaton was transferred from the Ell and taught the fall and winter terms. This school in point of size, difficulty of management is one of the most difficult rural schools at present in the district. Considering the conditions under which the teacher had to labor, I feel that commendable progress has been made.

EGYPT—Mrs. Carrie B. Weeks has been in charge of this school throughout the three terms. During the last term especially I noticed excellent progress in reading under the use of the word method. The law requires a school to maintain an average daily attendance of eight pupils, having failed in this requirement the school is closed unless the town on the written recommendation of the committee vote to keep it open.

MARSH—The spring term was taught by Miss Bessie Nichols. To succeed her I secured Miss Annie C. Millet, a graduate of M. C. I. in the class of 1912. Miss Millet has kept a good school, her work shows the advantage of special training.

ADAMS—Miss Eva M. Hilton of Newport taught all three terms in this school, the winter term being her eighty-ninth term as a teacher. This has been a banner school in attendance, punctuality and scholarship. Miss Hilton introduced several copies of the school paper, "Current Events", with the best of results. The Goodwin school was transported to the Adams throughout the year, the driver being Byron H. Hanson.

MADAWASKA—The spring and fall terms were under the capable instruction of Miss Sadie Sanford. I was sorry to receive her resignation at the end of the fall term. Believing it highly desirable to have a trained teacher to succeed a trained teacher I secured Miss Lillian Nash of Castine for the winter term. She came highly recommended and has lived up to it. I do not believe that the progress of this school was materially checked by the necessity of the change.

ELL—The South Union and the Ell districts have been consolidated and the pupils conveyed to the Ell. This is the only school in town which had a change of teachers each term. The fact that they have all been successful has lessened to a great extent the disadvantage to the children that might have resulted.

The spring term was taught by Miss Eaton, who gave the best of satisfaction. The fall term was taught by Mrs. Ada McCrillis, her reputation has been established by long and successful experience. The winter term was placed in the control of Miss Freda Bowman, whose success as an assistant in the Hartland schools gave promise of a good school. Miss Bowman has been entirely successful.

VILLAGE SCHOOL—The Carr school was conveyed to the village throughout the year.

Owing to various causes it was seen fit to excuse these children from attendance the latter part of the year.

I suggest for your consideration the wisdom of reopening the school in the Carr district.

Mrs. Lilla McCabe taught the full year in the village school, no pains were spared by her to make this a prosperous school.

I desire to emphasize the need of a more attractive interior and more modern school furniture.

In conclusion I desire to express to the members of the School Board and to the other citizens of the town my appreciation of the many courtisies extended to myself during the last few months.

Respectfully submitted,

Harry E. Fortier

One of the largest and most varied atocks in this part of the country. Comprising all kinds of general merchandise used on the farm or in the home and priced at a small margin above cost. It has never been our policy to over-buy and mark goods up so that January of each year will find us loaded with a large stock of high priced goods that the price has to be cut in two to get some ready cash for the coming years business, this may be a wise plan but we notice that the suckers that get hooked once look out for the store that cut their prices in two for one month in a year and still go on doing business; somebody pays the bill.

We do not intend for a pound of ground coffee to come into our stock, but buy all coffee in the berry from the large importers of Boston, and as we buy for cash get their best goods at a right price. We do not want to drink, ourselves, coffee made from the dried over grounds from the large city restaurants and hotels. Though we could buy ground "stuff" at a very low price and get more profit on the same.

We have on hand at all times Western Steer Beef, grown in the open and fed where corn is cheap, making nice, fat juicy meat. Also Native Pork, Fresh Fish and Sausage, through the winter months.

Our Dry Goods and Clothing trade has steadily increased during the past year; also Shoes, Heavy and Light Rubbers of all kinds for Men, Women and Children.

In our policy of paying cash or its equivolent for all goods to get the lowest market price and to have ready cash to buy when staples are low we have been hampered in the past by a large credit business having a large amount tied up where we can not use it. This has been changed so that in the future we shall not do a credit business with any transient having no property in town and shall expect all bills of regular customers paid in 30 days time as all business over the world is drawing in on credit business, thus working a more pleasant and better way than the old one of high prices and long credits.

We give you a cordial invitation to come in and see us at this sale or at any time in the year.
