Report of Chief of Fire Department

To the citizens of the town of Freeport :

We have been very fortunate about fires this year.

We have had six general alarms and fourteen still alarms, comprising two house fires, eleven chimney fires and seven grass and brush fires.

We have purchased from the town of Brunswick the hose wagon with both runners and wheels, which will carry 1200 feet of hose in place of the old hose reels that would only carry 550 to 600 feet.

As our expenses on fires were small this year, we have purchased a new set of sleds for our ladders, so we are now well equipped for winter, which we have never been before.

E. W. CONANT,

Chief of Fire Department.

B. H. BARTOL LIBRARY

The first, as well as the most important item in our annals this year is that at the town meeting of March, 1920, the annual appropriation for the library was increased from $500.00 to $700.00. The extra $200.00 was used during the year for insurance and for necessary work on the building. Part of the money which, under ordinary conditions, would have been spent on books, had to be used for fuel and other necessities. In consequence we have bought only 54 books including 8 volumes of bound magazines. We hope to do better than this in years to come, but as long as books sell at their present prices, there can be no large additions to our library unless a permanent book fund is started.

Many libraries have, and (all should have) such a fund, the income from which can be used only for the purchase of books, no matter to what heights the price of fuel and supplies soar.

During "Old Home Week" from June 21 to June 26, 1920, held in commemoration of the centennial of Maine's admission to statehood, pictures of vessels built in Freeport were exhibited in the library. These pictures, loaned for the occasion, were hung in the trustee's room. Though small, this collection was sufficient to show that Freeport was once famous for its fine ships.

In addition to photographs and paintings there was a model of the schooner "Cumberland," the last vessel built at Porter's Landing in 1874.

Among the visitors at this time were Gov. Carl Milliken, Byron Verge, and Miss Brazier, as well as many of the townspeople and their friends from out of town.

July 1, 1920, your librarian went, as the representative of the trustees of the B. H. Bartol Library, to a Union Meeting of New England Library Associations held at the Oceanic Hotel, Isles of Shoals, Portsmouth, N. H. Nearly 300 persons interested in some phase of library work were present at the session which covered parts of three days. Among them were Dr. H. L. Koopman whose birth-place was Freeport, and Mr. Joshua Taylor, at one time principal of F. H. S.

The summer and early autumn passed quietly in the library, but since October there has been a quickening of life, each month bringing more work than the one before it. In January, 1921, the circulation of books reached its highest point—1801 for the month.

The circulation for the year ending February 1, 1921, is the largest yet recorded. 14,284 of our own books were lent, while the traveling library, which was brought from Bustin's Island in September, had an output of 364. This gives us a total of 14,548 volumes, 1000 more than last year.

109 volumes were added to the library during the year, bringing the total number up to 5,195. 54 books were bought, 10 came from state and government, while 45 were given to the library. Among the donors are H. Bartol Brazier and his mother, Mrs. Ellen K. Brazier, and Rev. James L. Hill of Salem, Mass. Mrs. Susan Pratt and other townsfolk have also kindly remembered us with books and magazines. Mr. William H. Seymour of Brooklyn, N. Y., has recently presented the library with an oil portrait of his father-in-law, Captain Samuel Rose. Captain Rose, who was born in Freeport in 1809, spent most of his life at sea, or in Brooklyn, where he died in 1857. This portrait was accompanied by a collection of nearly 150 volumes from Mr. Seymour's own library. As we had no shelf space for such a large number of books and no funds with which to buy a case for them, Mr. Seymour very generously gave us the money for a handsome bookcase. This stands in the trustee's room under the portrait, and together with the books, forms a memorial to Captain Rose. As these books are not yet catalogued, they are not included among those previously mentioned as added to the library in the past twelve months.

There are now 1179 borrowers, a gain of 25 over last year. 88 old patrons have left us and their numbers given to newcomers.

31 vols. of fiction have been rebound and 8 vols. of magazines bound. We have mended 393 books and covered 116.

From fines and cards we have received $89.46 and from sale of junk $2.25.

ANNUAL REPORT FREEPORT PUBLIC SCHOOLS YEAR ENDING MARCH 1st 1921

To the School Committee and Citizens of Freeport :— — Herewith I submit my fourth annual report as Superintendent of Schools for the fiscal year ending March 1st.

COMMON SCHOOLS

In general the schools have been conducted in the same way as they were in the preceding year. The course of study remains the same and no change has been made in text books. Additional supplementary readers have, however, been purchased for the lower grades. The number of weeks in the school year also remains the same, being only thirty-four, whereas thirty-six is the generally accepted standard of Maine. Some of the larger places have thirty-seven or thirty-eight weeks. The progress and proficiency made by the pupils seems to be as good as or better than it was last year in the graded schools and in five rural schools but not so good in three rural schools. In April the Mast Landing School was re-opened with nine children attending. The attendence is now but seven. Since September the fourth grade of the village has been attending the Grove Street School and the assistant teacher placed there in the new recitation room. The Wolf's Neck School was closed in December and the few remaining pupils were transferred to the Litchfield. There are now five grades with three teachers at the new building, four grades with three teachers at Grove Street, eight grades and two teachers at So. Freeport, and eight rural schools of four to eight grades each. Except at the Collins School all the teachers who were being employed in the fall of 1919 remained until the close of the school year in June when eight resignations took effect including both men grammar school principals. It was no easy task to fill the vacancies because of the low wages offered especially in the rural schools. Another obstacle was the difficulty of securing boarding places for rural teachers. Pleasant Hill has its third teacher since September, Miss Baston, who taught the Wolf's Neck School until it was closed. Except at Pleasant Hill there have been no changes since September.

A small rural school is not as profitable for the children or for the town as one of fair size. Seven schools in charge of competent teachers are better for the children than nine or ten where a number of teachers are incompetent. It makes no difference to your Superintendent personally how many schools are maintained but it is his business to see that every child gets a square deal in common school education so far as is possible. The more schools there are the more money is needed. Wherever a school is maintained there should be funds sufficient to hire a competent teacher. When funds are lacking it is better to transfer the pupils to another school, supplying conveyance if necessary, unless this would impose hardship on the children.

• HEALTH EDUCATION

Emphasis has been placed on physical education. The state law of 1919 provides that towns must, "make provision for instruction to be given to pupils in all public schools in personal hygiene, community sanitation, and physical education, including recreational exercises. Since September this important work has been directed by a former Freeport teacher, Louise Curtis, who had done similar work in the state of New York. Correct health habits firmly fixed in the boys and girls will practically insure good health for them when they become men and women.

Attention is called to the report of Miss Curtis.

TEACHER SITUATION AND SALARIES

The teacher situation still remains very serious. The number of full normal trained teachers in Maine has decreased very rapidly since 1917. A large percentage has gone to states where salaries are much larger. The classes entering the normal schools in 1919 were very small therefore small classes will be graduated this year. These graduates will go where good salaries are paid and many places that need them most will be forced to accept the young inexperienced and untrained girls for their schools. A considerable percentage of Maine schools are now presided over by substandard teachers and in some cases are without teachers altogether.

There can be no great improvement in the teacher situation in Maine until the towns make salaries large enough not only to attract into the teaching profession men and women who have the qualities it is necessary to possess to become good teachers but also to hold good teachers in competition with neighboring states. Salaries in Freeport were increased thirty per cent last year but they are considerably below the average of the state. They were too low for rural teachers this year. They are too low to insure a properly trained or experienced teacher for every school next fall. Since children are compelled by law to attend school from the [time when they are seven years of age until fifteen it is the duty of the town to provide competent teachers.

SPECIAL RURAL TEACHERS

A state law of 1919 provides means of increasing the efficienev of rural education. About one hundred teachers of special qualifications who are normal graduates are given special training each summer at the State's expense. They teach only in rural schools and work six days the week. Their schools are usually open the last five days of the week in order that they may visit other schools to aid the teachers on Mondays and other teachers may visit their schools to learn from observation on Saturdays. The state pays one fifth of the special teacher's salary which is larger than the average rural teacher receives. Excellent results are reported from neighboring districts where these specially trained teachers are employed. For the last four years we have been compelled to employ in the rural schools girls without training or experience. A model school with a model teacher would be of great assistance to a beginner. In behalf of the boys and girls in the rural schools I recommend that Freeport employ next year a specially trained rural teacher.

HIGH SCHOOL

The High School continued with the same teachers until June when a class of ten was graduated. Before school began in the fall it was necessary to get two new teachers. Walter H. Blaisdell, a graduate of Bates College was engaged as principal to teach science and mathematics and Cornelia B. Caldwell, a Colby College graduate with several years of experience, to teach English and history. Work started in well in September and I believe the amount of work done and its quality is equal if not superior to that of any fall term in recent years.

The high school needs an additional teacher if the present enrollment is maintained or increased. The science department needs much equipment and a considerable sum must be expended for the library if the school is to maintain class A standing as it has for so many years.

Attention is called to the report of Principal Blaisdell.

INDUSTRIAL COURSES AND MUSIC

The work in Manual Training and Home Economics has been continued with little change from last year. More attention has been given to the grades so that the boys may get one hundred seventy hours of mechanical work and the girls one hundred seventy hours of sewing and cooking before they enter high school provided no time is lost. This work is optional in the high school. H. L. Johnson is teaching the boys for the fourth year. Muriel Palmer resigned at the end of the school year and was succeeded in September by Mildred Curtis, a graduate of Nasson Institute with two years of experience.

Hazel Snow resigned from the Music position early in the fall term after a little more than two years of service. She was succeeded by a former music teacher, Emma S. Anderson, whose interest and energy backed by long experience assure good teaching in this subject which yields such high returns in human enjoyment. Attention is called to Mrs. Anderson's report.

REPAIRS

A large part of the repair appropriation was expended in the Grove Street School where a long needed permanent improvement was made. A double stairway was built from the hall to the basement where modern flush closets were installed. The old toilets and store room were made into a good recitation room. An assistant teacher is now employed at Grove Street with a fit place in which to work. One sixth of the repair fund went to pay last year's bills and cleaning school houses claimed the third largest amount. Many minor repairs were made, Porter's Landing and the new building getting the most attention. The Burr school house is in bad condition. It needs shingling, better lighting, a new floor, new chinney, a new stove with a jacket, more desks, and painting both inside and out. In my opinion it would be much better to have a new schoolhouse with a suitable lot on the northwest side of Beech Hill.

The ceiling of the Collins school house should be replastered or covered with wall board and the rear wall of the Gore schoolhouse needs similar treatment.

If the Mast Landing School is to be maintained new desks should replace the old wooden benches and the chimney should be repaired or rebuilt.

The Porter's Landing schoolhouse should be shingled.

The Litchfield school house should be jacked up and the underpinning replaced so that the floor will be even and the doors close properly.

The Pleasant View schoolhouse should be remodeled. Additional windows should be placed on the left side of the room and good black boards on the front and on the right. The stove should be jacketed.

All the rural schools have but one small isolated outbuilding. It is nearly impossible in many cases to keep the toilets in a decent condition. A far better way would be to build sheds adjoining the school houses large enough to contain the toilets and a full year's supply of wood. The toilets should be connected to the schoolhouses by a ventilated passageway and made possible of entrance only from the school-room.

At Grove Street a good underpinning for the new recitation room would be an advantage.

The heating plant at the high and grammar building should be made more efficient by completing the work which the building committee lacked funds to do. It is advised that the main pipes in the basement be covered, that heating coils be installed there, and that additional radiators be placed in the high school rooms on the northwest side of the building. Double windows should be added to the two recitation rooms also. This is not strictly repair work but is new construction and should be done this year in order that the pupils' health be safeguarded and their time be not wasted. The Bailey schoolhouse at North Freeport which has been vacant many years should be repaired unless the town wishes to dispose of it altogether. The foundation on two sides is out of place, and the floor timbers have separated from the front sill, which seems decayed, thus permitting the floor to sag. The clapboards are beginning to curl up and drop off, paint is almost entirely lacking, the chimney has settled, patches of plaster have fallen from the ceiling, much window glass is missing, and the roof will need new shingles before many years.

BILLS AND ACCOUNTS

All salaries are paid to the end of February except that of the Superintendent which is $50.00 in arrears. The unpaid book bills amount to $400.00 which is $100.00 less than they were a year ago. The repair bills amount to $450.00 which is an increase of $250.00. In addition there are $100.00 of supply bills for goods bought but not yet used. The foregoing figures though not exact are substantially correct.

At its last meeting the School Committee recommended that the following appropriations be made for the various school accounts:

Common Schools	$10,500.00
High School	5,000.00
Books and Supplies	1,400.00
Repairs and Insurance	1,500.00
Superintendence	600.00
School Committee	100.00
Physical Education	800.00
Manual Training	425.00
Domastia Science	225 00

Domestic Science 325.00

High School Heating Plant

1,000.00

In conclusion I wish to express my hearty thanks to the teachers for the good work they have done during the past year. Theirs is the arduous yet interesting labor of building a considerable portion of the foundation of success and happiness of the citizens of the future. Special thanks are due to the members of the School Committee for their generous support and wise counsel. I wish to thank all who have aided in any way toward providing better educational opportunities for the boys and girls of Freeport.

> Respectfully submitted, FRANK H. BYRAM.

HIGH SCHOOL REPORT

As principal of Freeport High School, I wish to submit herein the report of the High School.

The total enrollment for the fall term was 111, of which number 64 were girls and 47 were boys. The average attendance was 100.06.

It is no mean advantage to be permitted the use of a new building free from the unpleasant features ordinarily found in a school building built to serve the purposes of a former generation. It is obvious, however, that our advantages are offset in no small degree by our disadvantages.

I note from reports of recent years that the lack of room has been greatly emphasized, likewise the lack of instructors. The same deplorable conditions still exist. The four teachers conduct twenty-four recitations during the day, and in eleven of the twenty-four cases, the teacher has the supervision of from ten to fifty pupils not included in the class he or she is teaching. These figures speak for themselves in no uncertain terms. A teacher cannot give his or her best efforts to his class and conduct a study period at the same time. Neither can a pupil apply himself as well when a recitation is going on in the same room. We have this year an innovation in the form of Physical Education, compulsory because of state law, but physiologically necessary because of physical law. It is a welcome diversion after having attended more or less tiresome classes to partake of a few minutes of exercise with an added stimulus of fresh and sometimes cold air. This given twice a day totals forty minutes for the five days in the school week, which is half the time prescribed by the state. The remaining forty minutes are spent after school hours in the gymnasium. About twenty per cent. of the scholars are excused from this afternoon period for various reasons, work, health, participation in athletic contests, etc.

As an indication of what this school has done in the last year, I am enclosing statistics showing in what ways the graduates of last year are employed. I find that, of the ten graduates two are in college, two are in normal school, three are working, and three are married. Any encouragement which parents and friends could give to direct the attention of the high school senior to some graduate work in which he may be particularly proficient or especially interested, will reap its reward in the mark which a college man seldom fails to attain, regardless of the branch which attracts his interests.

In conclusion, I wish to emphasize the appreciation of the interest which the citizens of the town have shown toward the school work and to outside-of-school interests. I think that time might well be spent in watching the operation, be it well done or not, of the school machine, offering suggestions when any seem needed, and feeling the pride, when any is deserved, in the well oiled and properly balanced mechanism which the ideal school should be. With this in mind, I wish to extend a cordial and inclusive invitation to the citizens of the town and to as many others as feel an interest in the high school, to visit us and see for themselves just what we are doing.

Respectfully submitted,

WALTER H. BLAISDELL,

Principal.

REPORT OF THE MUSIC SUPERVISOR

In submitting my report to the citizens of the Town of Freeport I would like to say that in so far as I have come in contact with the mothers and fathers, music is a much appreciated art.

Too much cannot be said about the advantages of the early drill. The impression made during youth seems to be the most lasting. The child's tonal and rythmic sense are most keen and alert in his early youth.

Taking the grades from primary to high school I systematized them so far as was possible in the short time I have been instructor. Our rural schools are sending pupils well qualified to take up the work with the higher grades without any break in the line of work. It is my object to make the high school a "singing high school."

We are taking up the lives of the old Masters such as Beethoven, Mendelssohn and Mozart. The compositions are a marvel to me. They would do credit to much older pupils.

The enthusiasm and conscientious work of the teachers will continue to make music, as Beethoven says, "A more lofty revelation than all wisdom and philosophy."

Respectfully submitted,

EMMA S. ANDERSON.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The last legislature passed a bill providing for compulsory Physical Training in all the public schools of Maine. With the co-operation of the superintendent and teachers I have been organizing this course in the schools of Freeport.

At the beginning of the fall term every pupil was given an examination of the heart, eyes, ears and teeth and reports were made in case of serious defects.

In the elementary schools from 15 minutes to half an hour is spent once a week in supervision of exercises and a written program is provided for the teacher to follow during the week. A Health Crusade, such as 18 being carried on in many towns and cities of the United States, has been formed and the work of our schools compares favorably with that of other districts. In each school is a chart showing the relative weight and height of the child at any age and many of the older scholars are keeping weight records. Instruction in Hygiene is given as outlined in the State Course of Study.

In addition to two 4 minute drills each day the high school classes meet once a week at the gymnasium. They are working at a disadvantage as at present the only apparatus consists of two jumping mats.

Plans have been made which, when completed, will give us a better gymnasium and do away with many of our present difficulties.

> Respectfully submitted, LOUISE CURTIS.
