Report of Superintendent of Schools

To the Superintendent School Committee :

Mr. Chairman :

I herewith present my second annual report of schools. I also have the pleasure of submitting a high school report by Carl R. Purinton and a report from the supervisor of Music, Miss Gertrude Thorne.

During the year an effort has been made to re-adjust the grades. Especially in the village schools, it was found that it required at least ten years for the completion of the common school studies. As a result, a relatively large number of pupils are found to be over age in the different grades, which proved to be particularly true of the boys. This resulted in a process of elimination so that few reached the upper grades. As an example, there was an enrolment last year of thirty-six pupils of ten years of age which gradually decreased until only seven remained who were eighteen years old, and they were found all the way from the eighth grade to the fourth year in the high school. For the alleviation of this, frequent promotions were made by the superintendent based upon both the age and ability of the pupils. This re-adjustment and promotion have proven to be rather a delicate task for almost as much harm may result from the advancement of pupils too rapidly as from their retardation. Often they prove to be mentally too young for the advanced grade of work, since it sometimes happens that a child old enough in years for a certain grade has not the mental development common to the age, and should thus be restrained to a certain degree. With few exceptions, the numerous promotions already made have proven satisfactorily which encourages other promotions in the near future.

The course of study issued by the state has been adopted as a guide to the work of the grades. With these four pamphlets has been issued a fifth, showing their adaption to the texts used in Newport. With the exception of a few minor details, it is felt that the work of the grades can be readily adapted to the State Course. The "Admission, Discharge and Promotion Cards" approved by the State, have also been introduced so that in time it will be possible to secure a complete school record of each child.

The Progressive Road to Reading has been introduced with favorable results. This text furnishes an excellent preparation in the first four grades for the more difficult reading in other texts. It is felt that a text in primary arithmetic conforming more to the state course should be adopted and sample copies have already been submitted to the teachers for their consideration and approval. The geographies are somewhat the worse for wear and a new up-to-date text is needed. But anticipating numerous geographical changes due to the present world conflict, the purchase of a new text has been delayed.

Excellent progress has been made in the department of music the expense of which has already been amply justified. A visit by the parents to the schools during Miss Thorne's instruction period would fully corroborate the above statement. For a more detailed account of her work and plans, I would refer you to her report. The progress of the High School needs no comment. The exemplary cooperation of the parents in its various functions signifies their acquaintance with the fine work of the past year. Due to these activities, I have refrained from the organization of a Parent, Teacher Association but, at the earnest request of some of the parents, this organization has lately been formed and plans for its future activities are being formulated. It is anticipated that it will prove a valuable adjunct to the school system. I would refer you to the report of the high school principal for a detailed account of the present and future plans of his work.

In the eye and ear test already reported for this year it is found that more than eleven per cent. of the pupils are defective in eye sight. It often happens that the notice of this defect sent to the parents by the teacher with the suggestion that the child be fitted with glasses is disregarded. As a result the child often incurs serious injury to health and becomes deficient in its studies. Better results would obtain if this work were done by a regular physician.

The elimination of the "no school bell" has already proved an excellent change. The result will be a larger percentage of attendance with a corresponding improvement in all lines of the school work.

I am pleased to report a decided improvement in school conveyances. With one exception, the pupils are now amply protected from inclement weather by covered vehicles. An effort has been made to secure a like improvement in this latter instance but as yet not with a good success. A dissatisfaction has arisen because some requests for the conveyance of pupils have not been granted. Some of the citizens are under the impression that the school committees are compelled by law to convey all pupils living certain distances from schools, whereas the matter is left entirely to their own judgement or discretion, as may be seen from the following quotation ;

"The superintendent of schools in each town shall procure the conveyance of all common school pupils residing in his town, a part or the whole of the distance, to and from the nearest suitable school, for the number of weeks for which schools are maintained in each year, when such pupils reside at such distance from said school as in the judgement of the superintending school committee shall render such conveyance necessary." To convey all pupils living from a mile to a mile and a half from school would mean a large expenditure of money which cannot be afforded from available funds which even now are overdrawn. It may appear that an inconsistency exists because some pupils are conveyed who live only the above distance from the school but I think it will be found that they happen to live on a regular conveyance route for pupils living at a greater distance and so are included in the conveyance. In the expenditure of school funds, the committee's first consideration must necessarily be given to the hiring of suitable teachers, secondary to which must come the conveyance. This is good school policy, for a child is better off, both physically and mentally, to walk during fair weather, if only three days a week, to a good school than to ride five to a school taught by a teacher not efficient. This matter certainly needs the cooperation of the parents. An excellent spirit worthy of emulation is shown by those parents whose boys are walking from two and one half to three miles daily.

To the regret of the superintendent and to others, success does not always attend the selection of teachers, especially for the rural schools. In this connection the opinion has been expressed that the cost of maintaining the rural schools has not been proportionally fair, that the village pupils have been receiving more than their due and that therefore a larger salary should be paid the rural teacher. In answer to this I have included in the appended statistics the average weekly cost of pupils. Greater significance is given to these figures when we consider the statement made by a prominent citizen, familiar with town affairs, that almost three-fourths of the taxes are paid in the village.

Partly on account of former heavy overdrafts in the repair appropriations, an endeavor has been made to curtail as much as possible the expenses of this department. The coming year the Hubbard school house should be painted on the outside and the Coburn on the inside. To save the much needless eye-strain the present dark ceiling of the latter school should give place to one of a lighter color. I would again urge the importance of thoroughly renovating the toilet arrangements at this school. I would also call attention to the advantages of a union school for these districts. With the outlay of a comparatively small amount a new two room school building could be centrally erected containing practically all modern improvements, excellent plans for which have already been submitted at a moderate cost. It would be well for the parents of these communities to investigate this more fully before expending too much money on the repairs of these old buildings. Requests for a more modern desk have been made for the Gilman School which I feel should be heeded. The high school room should be equipped with slate black-boards. It will require about 250 square feet at eighteen cents per sq. foot, f. o. b. at the factory. I hope a sufficient appropriation will be raised for this purpose.

The excellent progress of the school work has been due to the untiring efforts of the teachers and cooperation of the parents. In closing I would express my appreciation of this and the help and interest given to the work during the past year by the School Committee.

Report of High School Principal

To the Superintendent of Schools :

I herewith submit my second annual report as principal of the Newport High School.

During the past year the courses and general work of the high school have broadened to a considerable extent. The need of a third teacher has been met and a commercial course added which more directly meets the needs of a large number of the pupils. Complete courses may now be taken in book-keeping, typewriting, stenography, penmanship, commercial arithmetic and commercial law. However good these things are, yet we must not rest here. The coming year should find the beginning of domestic science and manual training courses, either one or both. I believe at least one of these is possible. The room in the basement may very easily be cleared and enough apparatus installed for both domestic science and manual training at a slight expense. Give the boys a chance to work with their hands at carpentering or mechanical work and many more boys will remain in school.

It is very imperative that the laboratory be equipped with more tables. At present only four pupils can be accommodated comfortably and with the addition of the general science course this year and a large class in physics next year, this need must be met.

ATTENDANCE

The School year opened with an enrollment of forty. There are at present forty. The attendance has been exceptionally good. Tardiness is being reduced slowly but surely

RECREATION

The library and reading room have been moved into more spacious quarters and we now have a special room where 35 of the leading monthly and weekly magazines may be found, also the daily papers. It is to be hoped that the general public will take advantage of this room and use the magazines. You are given a cordial welcome to come in any afternoon or evening.

A magazine class is flourishing and each week the live questions of the day are discussed for one hour.

A great need has been met this winter in the opening of the recreation room at the high school. Here games of all kinds may be enjoyed and at all times under the supervision of the teachers and the superintendent. The central idea in the whole movement is to provide a place where clean wholesome amusements may be enjoyed under uplifting influences. The public is urged to use this room which will be found open every afternoon and evening.

I wish to thank those who contributed to the fund and thus made this new movement a success.

Socials and entertainments have been given throughout the year for the benefit of the piano which is being paid for slowly. Over $80 has been paid by the scholars the past year.

A new tennis court has been made and plans for a third are under way.

Basket-ball teams have been formed by both the boys and the girls.

A stereopticon lantern has been purchased, also 600 stereographs with stereoscopes. These stereographs are to be used by all the grades and will make the teaching of history, geography, civics, nature, and many other studies much more interesting. Lectures have been given to the public with the aid of the lantern and have been generously supported. The proceeds of these lectures will go to purchase slides for use in school work.

The recreation room, the reading room, the lecture course are all tending to make the high school what it should be—a social and civic center of the life of the town. And it will become that when each one puts the high school above the minor interests of life. At the high school and amid its influences the characters of the boys and girls are being moulded. It therefore behooves each one of us to take an active interest in this larger work of the high school.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, I wish to thank the superintendent and school board for their hearty co-operation in every department of the school work.

I wish to express my appreciation to my assistants for their efforts to maintain the high standard of the school and for their devotion to the work of the school.

Respectfully Submitted,

C. R. Purinton, Principal.

To the School Committee and Superintendent of Schools.

I present my second annual report.

My work in your schools since writing my last report, has been most interesting and, on the whole pleasing.

It is not possible to make a talented musician of every child, any more than it is possible to make a brilliant English student or mathematician of every one. Yet because they have not great natural talent in these studies, is no reason why they should be neglected. On the other hand they must have a certain amount of training in these branches for the well rounding out of a good education.

It is not that we expect to make a brilliant song bird of every child, but we do expect to give these children something that will develop them as no other study can.

Develop them physically-mentally and spritually.

Physically by the deep breathing exercises, which strengthens not only the lungs, but also strengthens the whole system.

Mentally, by the concentration of mind which must be developed for the quick perception of intervals in sight reading and marks in dynamics-phrasing and musical interpretation; and right here I would say to all who doubt that music has any mental development. I would urge such to visit the schools and ask the teachers to show them some of the work in sight reading.

Spritually-by developing the spirit of the child to appreciate and love the beautiful. This is the most important, for the steady development in these children for the best things today, means better things in your community tomorrow. And here is the most pleasing part of my work in your schools this year, is the knowledge of the steadily growing tendency among the pupils for the appreciation of the best songs.

As for the work in the different schools and grades it has been varied. Some have improved faster than others. Out of fairness to the pupils I'll make no comments on the two schools at North Newport. The unsettled conditions through the fall and changing of teachers could not but have its effect. It has been hard for the present teachers and hard for the pupils.

The Gilman school is doing very good work and should this gain continuous for one year it will be a school worth visiting.

The East Newport Primary is a credit to itself and doubly so to the teacher.

The Grammar School under the same teacher has gained very steadily. The interest shown by the pupils of these two schools is most encouraging.

For my review of the grades in the village I would invite, yes, urge any who are interested and all who are in doubt to visit the schools on Fridays from 8.30 to 12 M.

I am much pleased to report that the High School is making excellent progress. Since the first of Jan. we have taken up sight reading and the beginning of the rudiments of music. A short lesson in this is conducted by one of the high school teachers every day. This work is taken up for the purpose of placing the pupils in a position where they can understand and appreciate a course in music appreciation so much desired by the High School Inspectors, and to aid them in sight reading.

The voice work is improving wonderfully and well it should for we have much material with which to built.

A thing of especial interest this year was the Convention of Music Supervisors east of the Kennebec at Bangor, Jan. 20th. Plans were made for a High School Musical Festival to be given at Bangor next October at the opening of the State Convention. Every High School which has music in its course will be drilled and trained for this Festival.

To our State Superintendent's knowledge the one given last fall at Portland by High Schools west of the Kennebec was the first State Festival by High Schools ever given in the United States.

I am glad to announce that the Newport High School will assist in the second State Festival. That it will be a credit to your town I have no fears.

In closing let me say that I have found the teachers in general much interested and very conscientious in their work. The interest and helpfulness shown by our High School Principal has been beyond words to explain.

To our Superintendent I would here publicly express my deepest gratitude and appreciation for his kindly consideration and deep interest in my work.

Respectfully submitted,
Gertrude Thorne, Supervisor of Music
