AUDITOR'S REPORT

Prospect Harbor, Maine, Feb. 10, 1938

I have examined the books and vouchers of the selectmen and treasurer of the town of Gouldsboro for the period covered by the foregoing accounts, finding them correct and disbursements properly vouched for. The cash on hand as shown by the treasurer's report agrees with the amount due the town, as shown by the books of the selectmen.

ANNIS W. SEAVEY,
Auditor.

SCHOOL REPORT

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the superintending School Committee and Citizens of the Town of Gouldsboro:

I hereby submit my third annual report of the condition and progress of our schools.

The public school as conceived one hundred years ago by Horace Mann is the bulwark of our American civilization. The kind of citizenship we are able to teach our children will determine in a large degree the future of our country. The attributes which we are able to build into their personalities and characters will, to a degree, prepare our boys and girls to cope with the new and various problems of this rapidly changing world. We must teach the fundamental skills, but in addition to this we must teach the extraordinary range of conditions under which men live, point out the difficulties of finding the truth in the social field and develop a spirit of cooperation and tolerance for honest difference of opinion.

In order that our children may be effective in the cause of democracy we must guard their health, create in them ideals of humanitarianism, courtesy and good sportsmanship, teach them to work, to be thrifty and self-reliant, not forgetting the cultural side which will give them such an appreciation of art, literature and music as to open the door to wholesome recreation. The words, "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity," as uttered by Horace Mann, offer a challenge to each of us to improve our schools. Our teachers accept this challenge and to a wonderful degree are devoted to their work.

I believe that the first three years, and particularly the first year, of a child's school life are of greatest importance and that expert teaching in those grades is highly essential. I think you may be interested in a few statistics which show with some accuracy pupil standing and pupil progress in our schools. We have not tried to actually test the children's knowledge below the third grade, but hope the lower grades will be equally as good when they reach this point. It is interesting to note that of our eleven third-graders who took the Stanford Achievement Test late in the fall term, 100 per cent.

of them are up to grade according to that standard. Sixty per cent. of the fifteen fourth-grade pupils are up to grade, three of them showing an advance of at least two grades. Of the fifteen fifth-grade pupils to take the test, 57 per cent. were up to grade and one pupil advanced two grades. Nine sixth-grade pupils took the test and 33 per cent of them were found to be up to grade, with one advancing more than one grade. Nineteen seventh-grade pupils were tested and 44 per cent. were up to grade. Even though a few were very high, not one of them advanced more than a grade. You will understand that the test as given annually is a mere indicator of pupil progress which may be used for certain remedial work and a more intelligent grade promotion.

I have found it possible this year to provide a greater number of library books suitable for the grades with the hope that greater interest in reading may be aroused. Teachers have made a real effort to use these books to good advantage and many children are getting the reading habit. Through the limited use of personal educational films it has been shown that visual education should have a place in our school program. It is now possible to choose pictures so correlated with social subjects as to be very valuable. The child who ordinarily grasps slowly learns quickly from pictures and retains indefinitely the knowledge gained. I hope that in the near future we may feel the need of an appropriation for projector and educational films. Several of our schools are now equipped with a radio which enables them to get the American School of the Air and other worth-while programs.

We are making more progress than formerly in the teaching of music. Not all teachers can be expected to give a regular course in singing and music appreciation as some are now doing. Until the time comes when we can have a regular music teacher we shall simply encourage all teachers to give such instruction as their ability and time may permit.

Weekly averages in spelling are higher than ever before and we hope to continue the present method of spelling which helps children to learn words needed in the work of their respective grades, enlarges their vocabularies and tends to correct untidy habits of erasing and rewriting.

The annual Field Day, which includes the entire school district, serves not only as a day of fun for children but also promotes good health and is a motivating force behind the entire school program. Early in the day children of the lower grades play games which they have been taught on their own school grounds. This interesting performance is followed by competition in track events by the upper grades. In the afternoon we have a parade with the band playing and banners waving, which is followed by cheers and the "seven-point circle," which is the crowning feature of the day and bespeaks in a most impressive manner the progress which we are making in health. Seven-pointers increased 20 per cent in one year. Last year 72 per cent of the entire enrollment of the district were in the Circle. The nurses, many parents and friends are trying to raise the percentage still higher. We ask your further cooperation in this worthy project and hope that more grown-ups will come to realize that Field Day is not for children only.

On behalf of the town of Gouldsboro I wish to express our appreciation for the many splendid gifts which Mrs. E. T. Paine has given the Prospect Harbor school during the past few years. The primary school table and chairs, the wonderful library books and games, the fine piano and light fixtures with newly-painted ceiling are some of the outstanding gifts which have been appropriate and timely, adding much to the attractiveness, comfort and utility of the school room. Mrs. Paine, we thank you.

In like manner I would express appreciation to Morton C. Bunker for his generous gifts to the South Gouldsboro school in the form of lavatories, piano and other useful and up-to-date pieces of equipment. I assure you, Mr. Bunker, that teachers, pupils and others are highly appreciative of this kindness, and show it by their fine school spirit and readiness to take every possible advantage of the opportunities offered.

The carefully planned and well executed program of repair work on schoolhouses last year is a credit to any community. I might suggest a new hardwood floor at Prospect Harbor and a new furnace at South Gouldsboro.

Respectfully submitted,

MERLE R. KEYES,

Superintendent of Schools.

NURSING REPORT

FLANDER'S BAY NURSING SERVICE

During the year 504 instructive and investigative visits have been made on babies, pre-school, school children, pre-natal patients and tuberculosis contacts, also other types of communicable diseases. Nursing care was given mother and baby at delivery whenever requested. Sixty-eight patients were taken to hospitals, doctors and clinics in nearby cities. Two patients were taken to a Portland hospital.

In March and April, during the Cancer Prevention and Early Diagnosis Campaign, over 1,000 pamphlets on these subjects were placed in libraries, schools, factories and homes. Posters were also exhibited in all public places.

In May the nurse assisted in the Field Day Activities for the schools from the towns in the Flander's Bay Nursing Service. Gouldsboro school children who qualified as Seven-Pointers marched in the parade.

The baby and pre-school clinic conducted in Winter Harbor was attended by Gouldsboro mothers who were invited to bring their babies and pre-school children to Dr. Shorey, a summer physician, who examined the children and gave advice to the mothers.

When school opened in September, the nurse made sanitary inspection of building and playground equipment for safety and pupils for symptoms of communicable diseases. The annual health inspection of each pupil was given during the fall, and those showing symptoms of defects carried home written notices to parents for reference during the year. A copy of examination results were left with each teacher. Here are the results of health inspections in all the schools: Number pupils inspected, 131; with defective teeth, 60; 10 per cent. or more underweight, 21; defective throat, 8; defective vision, 5; defective hearing, 1; skin infections, 2; poor posture, 8; enlarged glands, 5.

The Corea schools have had some corrections made since school opened in September; two pupils having eye examin-
