Common School Report

To the School Committee of Rome:

I herewith submit my third annual report of the schools for the year ending February, 1921.

From the standpoint of school efficiency this has been a very successful year. Although there are still schools in the state closed on account of lack of teachers we have been able to open our schools on time and with one exception the same teachers will remain with us for the balance of the year. The weather has been very favorable for school work and there has been but little sickness among the pupils.

One matter that should receive attention at the annual meeting is that of teachers' wages. For the past four years our teachers have worked faithfully for a small wage hoping that each year would bring a material increase as has been done in other walks of life. Thirteen dollars is the average salary paid and this is not in keeping with the profession. Were it not for the fact that our teachers are local we should have been obliged to raise the salaries three years ago. Why is not the local teacher worth as much to the community as the stranger? If she is why not pay her the same wages? I would suggest that the town pay at least fifteen dollars per week for 1921, and I have used this as a basis in making my school estimates.

There has been a general improvement in the care and cleanliness of the school rooms. Teachers and pupils have tried to have the conditions in and about the schools conform with those of the average home. This is as it should be and is one of the most important parts of the child's education. All the schools have given at least one entertainment for the benefit of the community and in one school "The Whittier" a hot lunch has been served every noon. Such work as this (purely voluntary on the part of the teacher) is certainly appreciated and is conducive to a better school life. Some physical work has been introduced into all the schools and rules of good health have been emphasized. A more complete program of school improvement will be introduced at the beginning of the spring term. Such a course has been successfully tried out in the Sidney schools for the past year.

At the beginning of the winter the children in the Foster district were conveyed to the Robbins school. These children are small and during the cold weather the walk is too long for a regular attendance. This arrangement of conveyance seems to work out better than to establish a school at the Hersom building. It is less expensive and the pupils do better work in larger classes.

There are one or two other children in town who live quite a distance from the school and it would not be a bad plan for the town to discuss this at the annual meeting. The committee are always ready to carry out the wishes of the people but when working on their initiative the question of expense has to be carefully considered.

During the summer vacation the lightning struck and damaged the schoolhouse at Long Pond, but fortunately there was sufficient insurance to make complete repairs.

Considerable work was done on the Blaisdell building. The room was sheathed with wall board, the ceiling repaired and new blackboards added. The schoolroom is now attractive and comfortable.

During the coming year it will be necessary to shingle both the building at Long Pond and at the Point school. The roof is open in many places and for the good of the building and the school this work must be done before the spring rains. Two or three of the school rooms need patching with plaster but this work is of a minor character and can be attended to out of the regular repair appropriation.

You will note that we have overrun somewhat our book account. This is due to the excessive price that we have to pay for our books and supplies.

In making my recommendations for another year I have based the amounts on what is actually needed to conduct the work along the different departments. I have estimated the wages of teachers at $15 per week which is what we shall have to pay teachers who come from outside the town.
