SUPERVISOR'S REPORT.

Fellow Citizens :

Your Supervisor, to whom were entrusted the important interests of the schools in this town during the past year, having attended to the duties assigned him by law, would respectfully submit the following report :

DISTRICT NO. 2,—CLARK W. FOSTER, AGENT.

Whole number of scholars in the district, 24. The summer term was taught by Addie M. Marshall. Length of school, 7 weeks; whole number of scholars attending, 9; average number, 8. It may be said of Miss Marshall, as last year, in connection with this school, that "she did well." The scholars were orderly, attentive to their studies, and the progress was satisfactory.

The winter term was taught by Horatio A. Bumpus. Length of school, 8 weeks; number of scholars registered, 17; average number, 14. It was pleasant to see a larger number present than usual, and to see them so interested in their studies. Mr. Bumpus had taught but one school before, but he seemed perfectly at home in the school room. The discipline was good, and it was evidently a profitable term.

DISTRICT NO. 3,—S. R. BRIDGHAM, AGENT.

Whole number of scholars in the district, 40. Miss Lizzie C. Briggs taught the summer term. Length of school, 8 weeks; whole number of scholars attending, 18; average number, 14. This was Miss Briggs' first experience in teaching, and at my first visit, I had some doubts as to the success of the school, as some of the scholars were inclined to be unruly, but when I visited it the last time, I was happily disappointed. The school appeared unusually well. The discipline was excellent, the pupils were studious, and satisfactory progress had been made. She was liked so well, that she was engaged for the fall term, which she taught for 6 weeks with like satisfactory results. Whole number attending, 23; average number, 20.

The winter term was taught by Emery B. Gibbs. Length of term, 11 weeks; whole number of scholars registered, 25; average number, 20. The agent was fortunate in employing so good a teacher. He was well qualified, and in the discharge of his duties, was earnest, persevering and faithful. He believed in thoroughness, and in doing well whatever was attempted. He governed admirably, with but little apparent effort, and as a natural result, the school was well disciplined, as well as instructed.

The closing examination was of a high order, and evinced fidelity on the part of teacher and scholars. It was a very profitable term.

DISTRICT NO. 4,—JABEZ DAVIS, AGENT.

Whole number of scholars in the district, 34. The summer term was taught by Miss Lizzie W. Sawyer. Length of school, 6 weeks; whole number of scholars attending, 18; average number, 18; so we see that none were absent a day. Though young and without any previous experience in teaching, Miss Sawyer was well adapted to the school. She was highly successful in winning the love and confidence of her pupils, the esteem of the parents, and our own hearty commendation.

Seldom have I seen one so young, possessing so many of the requisite qualifications for a successful teacher. She is a good scholar, energetic, apt to teach, and well deserves the success she achieved.

She, also, had charge of the fall term term of 8 weeks, with most satisfactory results. Whole number attending, 17; average number, 15. At the closing examination, there were recitations, select readings, singing, etc.

George F. Chesley had charge of the winter term. Length of school, 11 weeks; whole number of scholars registered, 26; average number, 19.

Mr. Chesley taught this school two years ago, with good success, and he was gladly received by his former pupils as their teacher again. The school was evidently a profitable one. The closing examination clearly indicated faithfulness and well directed effort on the part of the teacher, and satisfactory improvement on the part of the scholars.

DISTRICT NO. 5,—LEVI B. MERRILL, AGENT.

Whole number of scholars in the district, 20. The summer term was taught by Miss Helen J. Howe. Length of school, 6 weeks; whole number of scholars attending, 13; average number, 10. Miss Howe was well qualified to instruct, seemed interested in her work, and did what she thought was best to make the school a success, but had she been a little less indulgent, and not allowed the scholars so many liberties, seemingly needless, it would have been an improvement. She evidently loved her pupils, and found it hard to deny them any request.

With this exception, the school appeared well, and there was good evidence of progress.

James S. Sturtevant had charge of the winter term. Length of school, 12 weeks; whole number of scholars registered, 21; average number, 16. This was one of the most profitable terms, here, for years. The management was good, the scholars orderly, and studious, and the recitations satisfactory.

DISTRICT NO. 6,—H. A. CUSHMAN, AGENT.

Whole number of scholars in the district, 37. The summer term was taught by Bertha L. Packard. Length of term, 8 weeks; whole number of scholars attending, 22; average number, 20.

Miss Packard was well known in this district as a good teacher, having taught the school several terms. She is a good scholar, and her pupils have a high regard for her as an instructor. As in the past, she gave good satisfaction.

Miss Avoline R. Forbes, a most excellent teacher, commenced the winter term, but after two weeks of satisfactory service, was obliged to leave on account of sickness, much to the regret of the scholars, parents, and Supervisor. It was hoped, and the expectation was cherished, that after a few weeks, she would be able to return to the school, and go successfully through with it, but it was a vain hope; and when it was known that she could not return, Miss Isa B. Foster was engaged to finish the school. Length of school, including the two weeks previously taught, 12 weeks; whole number of scholars registered, 26; average number, 23. Miss Foster is a good scholar, a graduate of Bates College, and has taught several terms in town, with good success. It was well for the district, that one so well qualified could be obtained, to take the place of Miss Forbes. If she has failed in any one thing, it is, perhaps, in discipline, though the school appeared well when visited. It would require a large amount of tact, to keep so many little ones in just the places they should be, and interested. Miss Foster has done well, and the scholars have made commendable progress.

DISTRICT NO. 7,—BRADFORD STURTEVANT, AGENT.

Whole number of scholars in the district, 28. Miss Hattie A. Hooper taught the summer term. Length of school, 8 weeks; whole number of scholars attending, 15; average number, 13.

Miss Hooper has many excellent qualifications for a teacher. If she lacks in any important particular, it is in that of energy, yet the school was well managed and orderly, and commendable progress was made in all the studies.

The closing examination was very satisfactory, and was made especially interesting by recitations, declamations and select readings. It would be well, if this was a more common practice, and if the parents would more generally be present.

Miss Hooper, also, taught the fall or winter term. Length of school, 10 weeks; whole number of scholars registered, 15; average number, 13. The school appeared well at both visits, and while it was evident that the teacher gave general satisfaction it was especially noticeable that the smaller scholars were very deeply attached to her, and had made good advancement.

DISTRICT NO. 8,—H. M. BEARCE, AGENT.

Whole number of scholars in the district, 13. At the last annual meeting, it was voted that the scholars belonging in this district attend the school in District No. 5, and that they draw the money for that purpose. Subsequently, permission was given them to attend where it would accommodate them best, or where it would be their preference to go; consequently some attended in District No. 5, others in District No. 6, and there was no school here.

Such, fellow citizens, is the report I have to present, and I have endeavored to give you a fair and impartial statement of the condition of our schools.

It is evident that they have generally been more profitable than for several years past. In some of the districts they have been unusually successful, and we have reason to be grateful, that as a whole, they have been so prosperous. Success, as well as failure, should teach us the importance of securing good and efficient teachers, even if we have to pay them a good price. There cannot be steady and systematic progress without this; and it should be the aim of all, to help in the work of raising our schools to a higher standard.

In some of our schools, I noticed a great lack of books. Such neglect is inexcusable. When two or three, and sometimes more, have to read or study from the same book, much of real good is lost, and still worse is it for the school, when the teachers, as in almost every school I have visited, have depended on the scholars for books, readers especially, which is decidedly wrong. Teachers, as well as scholars, should have books of their own, so as not to discommode others.

In respect to agents I would say, that they are not always aware how needful it is that the Supervisor receive the census report, early in April. Will you please remember and act promptly? From the suggestions, and actual requirements of the State Superintendent, the Supervisor's labors are being increased, year by year, till now the actual visiting of the schools, is but a small part of the work he has to do, and while to some it may seem to be a pleasant service (and in some respects it is) there is a constant feeling of anxiety and responsibility, known only to him. In doing the best he can, he sometimes makes mistakes, of course, and is often blamed when no blame is due, so he needs your hearty co-operation and support.

Respectfully submitted,

S. D. RICHARDSON,

Supervisor.
