DAVIS' BLOCK, OPPOSITE CITY BUILDING.

It offers superior facilities for preparing young men and Ladies for the counting room and business pursuits.
The College is in session six days and five evenings of each week, and students, are admitted during any session and receive individual instruction at all times in both the

THEORETICAL AND PRACTICAL DEPARTMENT.

They are also thoroughly drilled in Arithmetic and Commercial Law, in classes, by a teacher of experience, and who is also a practical accountant.
The Students are encouraged to advance as fast as their ability will admit, consistent with thoroughness.

MR. H. W. SHAYLOE, who has had charge of the Writing Department for the past 24 years, and who has no superior as a penman, still continues in charge, and will be assisted by Mr. A. K. Merrill, who is also a first-class penman, and will be in constant attendance both day and evening.

Since good writing is indispensable in the counting room, the advantages offered in this Department are worthy of consideration.
Terms are very favorable, in fact never so low as at present, while the advantages offered have never been equalled. For further information address

We have examined the accounts of the town treasurer for the year ending Feb. 7, 1889, and find them correctly cast and vouched for, and hereby approve the same.

FELLOW CITIZENS OF HEBRON:

Your Supervisor of Schools respectfully submits the following report of the condition of the Schools of your town.

District No. 2.  J. S. Day, Agent.

The summer term was under the instruction of Mrs. H. D. Tuttle, who also taught the previous winter term. Mrs. Tuttle is a teacher thorough in her work, and did all in her power to interest and instruct her pupils.

The examination at the close of the school proved most satisfactory, and showed marked advancement in all the studies and especially in reading.

The winter term was taught by Miss Minnie A. Davy, whose previous experience and success in other schools made this one of the most profitable terms of school taught in town.

District No. 3.  S. K. Bradford, Agent.

Miss Annie Whittemore, who succeeded Miss Davy has proved herself a most valuable instructor,
Both the summer and winter terms have been taught, by her, and the results of her instruction are most gratifying. Seldom is a district so fortunate in having two such teachers as Miss Davy and Miss Whittemore, and seldom does a school exhibit such marked advancement. Your supervisor can speak both of teacher and scholars in the highest terms, and has no hesitation in pronouncing this the model school in its deportment and perfect recitations. The prosperity of the school is due in a very large measure to the wisdom of securing the very best teachers and in continuing them term after term.

District No. 4. Addison Monk, Agent.

The summer term was taught by Minnie A. Davy. This school is the largest in town and has in it some of the very best material. The teacher exhibited her usual ability in government and instruction and the scholars showed their wonted interest and thoroughness in the lessons taught.

The winter term was under the charge of A. C. Whitman, whose large experience in teaching made this a very profitable school. His methods of instruction were somewhat different from most teachers, consisting largely in practical questions, and application of principles. The scholars did themselves credit in the closing examination, and showed that the work done had been thorough.

District No. 5. S. Bearce, Agent.

The money of this district, as last year was given over to the Academy, and the larger scholars had the advantage of the three terms of the year, while for the smaller ones, Miss Edith Packard was secured, and her time wholly given to their instruction during the fall term. The same arrangement is made for the spring term and Miss Mary A. Denning, a most efficient teacher is giving her whole time to this department.

District No. 6.  H. A. Cushman, Agent.

Miss Agnes M. Prince, a graduate of the Academy, and a most thorough scholar was secured for the summer term. Her methods of instruction were thorough and her pupils made a most creditable advancement.

The winter term was taught by C. H. Dodge. Though this was the first experience in teaching, yet he did himself credit in gaining the hearty co-operation of the scholars, and by the rapid advancement made in the studies. This school has been favored in having for so many terms such faithful and efficient teachers.

District No. 7.  James M. Faris, Agent.

The summer term was under the instruction of Miss Minnie B. Caldwell; who, notwithstanding the small number of scholars, made this a most interesting school. Great pains was taken with each scholar, and all showed the thoroughness of the instruction given.

Annie C. Caldwell taught the winter term, and though inexperienced, proved herself a valuable teacher. The visit at the close of the school showed that faithful work had been done, and this to have been a profitable term.

District No. 8.  H. M. Bearce, Agent.

This school was fortunate in securing Miss Minnie R. Beals, as teacher, both of the summer and winter terms. Under her wise management and thorough instruction, the most favorable results was realized; and this school is fast gaining a high rank, both in deportment and scholarship.

During the year the most gratifying change has been made in Readers, and the interest in the new book and the improvements, has fully justified the exchange.

In closing this report, two measures are urged for the consideration of the voters of this town. The first is the necessity of making some arrangement for the supply of school-books. As every town is free to choose its own textbooks, and is frequently changing them, it is almost impossible to keep a uniformity of textbooks in a single school. When some book is wanted, often one not used in the school is bought, and consequently we have in some of the schools three kinds of Geographies, two or three kinds of Spellers and Grammar, and until the recent change of Readers, three different kinds. This is a fearful loss... to the schools; since it takes up so much time to hear the extra lessons, and it also lessens the interest of the scholars in having so many small classes. If the supervisor sends for books as wanted, it costs an extra bill for express or postage, and often a loss of most precious time before the scholar gets the book. Not unfrequently the parent fails to get the needed because he has not the money at hand, and so there is a delay. Now it would be a most expedient thing to authorize the supervisor to furnish the books and keep an account with each school and scholar, and increase the amount of money raised to cover expenses. Then the books will belong to the town, and each scholar can have just the books he needs and when he needs them.

The second measure is that the supervisor be authorized to secure the teachers. Often an agent will engage the first applicant, or some one not competent or qualified, and if the supervisor does not allow such to keep the school, it often makes trouble.

The supervisor ought to know best the qualifications of different teachers, and if he has the hiring of them if they prove incompetent, he can remove them without any disturbance in the district. This measure will not do away with the District system or agents, but simply allows the supervisor to secure such teachers as he judges best fitted for the schools.

C. E. HARDEN, Supervisor.

HEBRON, February, 1889.
