Report of Superintendent of Schools

To the S. S. Committee and Citizens of Hermon:

I hereby submit the following report of the School Department in your town for the municipal year, ending March 1, 1922.

SCHOOLS

During the spring and winter terms, thirteen schools were maintained; one of these, the Burnett School, was suspended by law for the fall term because it failed to maintain the required general average of eight pupils for the previous school year. During the fall term, the pupils from this district were transported to the Garland Hill School. Before the opening of the winter term, however, the school was re-established, on the written recommendation of the School Board, by a vote of the town at a special town meeting held for the purpose.

The spring, fall and winter terms were respectively, ten, fourteen and eight weeks in length. Obviously, we have thirty-two weeks in our school year. I cannot impress upon you too strongly the importance of increasing the length of the school year from thirty-two weeks to thirty-six. This must be done if your children are to compete successfully with children of more favored localities which have a longer school year. Can we reasonably expect the children of the Hermon schools to accomplish as much in thirty-two weeks as the girls and boys of the same learning capacity in other towns and cities of the state accomplish in thirty-six? Please think about this question when you feel inclined to criticise your school because your children are not making what you consider proper advancement.

In general, we have too many schools. Very few towns in the state have as many schools in proportion to the school population as Hermon. Many of our schools are small, altogether too small to do good work. At present, there are but nine pupils in the Light School, ten in the Prescott School and the same number at Garland Hill. The schools at the Pond, Hermon Corner, and in the Burnett district have but very few pupils. Some of these have ninth grade pupils who will leave at the end of the present school year and unless there are others to enter, the schools will be still smaller next year. Usually, interest, competition and rivalry are lacking in schools of this size. We should wake up to the fact that consolidation in a central school building is past the experimental stage and that thru consolidation, good country schools are possible.

TEACHERS

The teaching has been very satisfactory during the whole school year. A special effort has been made to get teachers who have had some experience, as we believe that experience is an excellent substitute for professional training. The highest salary we pay is $576.00 a year; the lowest, $384.00; the average is $490.00. It will be seen that salaries are still low as compared with those of many other places.

ATTENDANCE

The attendance in the Hermon schools, as a whole, is not what it should be. It seems an immense waste of money to maintain schools and then let the children decide for themselves whether or not they will attend. In many cases, children are allowed to stay out of school or are kept out for no legitimate reason. This has been especially true in the Hermon Corner, Leathers Corner, Snow Corner and Light schools. The attendance has also been very bad in the Garland Hill School. The prevalence of scarlet fever has been a serious hindrance to good attendance for the winter term, in some localities. This was, of course, unavoidable. However, we cannot but feel that in some instances, parents were unduly alarmed, and have kept their children out when there was apparently no real danger.

Tardiness is another evil altogether too common in our schools. Many children are habitually late and they are not always to blame for this. A large number of cases of tardiness could be avoided, if the parents would cooperate with the teachers in trying to prevent it. Parents should feel enough interest in the education and future welfare of their children, to see that they attend school as regularly as possible, and are there promptly at the beginning of both the morning and afternoon sessions. Besides receiving the benefits of a longer school day, they will, in this way, gradually form the habit of punctuality which is an excellent one.

TEXT BOOKS

No changes have been made in the textbooks during the past year. An honest effort has been made to get supplies promptly into the hands of the pupils. As a result, the schools are, at present, very well furnished. The textbook account has been overdrawn to quite an extent but this was unavoidable. It is poor economy to put teachers into schools and give them nothing to work with. Frye's Home Geography has been placed in the fourth grade. This makes the geography of the grade uniform. The text, when given with a large amount of supplemental work, as is intended, furnishes a substantial foundation for the more formal geography to follow. The new Century Readers and the Normal Third and Fourth Readers have been placed in the schools for supplementary reading. A new supply of writing books will be necessary next year as the old books are not well adapted to our present needs.

This year we have bought very few supplies, excepting textbooks and composition and practice paper. Even the paper was supplied in limited quantities. Arithmetic paper was furnished only at the expense of the pupil. Our appropriations have not been large enough to permit of our buying maps, globes, or busy work for the lower grades. It is hoped that more can be done along these lines next year as some of our schools are not properly equipped with globes and wall maps.

REPAIRS

A goodly amount of repair work has been done. As we had most of the buildings repaired during the summer, it was possible to get very satisfactory results. The steel ceiling at Garland Hill was painted. At North Hermon, the privy was attached to the building according to a plan approved by the State Department of Education. It will be a matter of only a few years, before all our school toilets will be connected with the schoolroom in a similar way. Minor repairs were made in Nos. 7, 8, 10, 11, 12 and 13. An unusually large amount of glass had to be set at the Boston Road, Snow Corner and Garland Hill. In a way, this seemed rather a waste of the repair funds because in these three cases, it was quite evident that the breakage was caused intentionally and possibly maliciously.

Out of the repair fund, the town hall had to be repaired and put in readiness for the high school. The walls were papered and new hyloplate blackboards were put up. A few weeks after school opened, as the room seemed rather dark during the latter part of the afternoon, electric lights were installed. The room is now fairly comfortable and will probably be all right as long as we have a B-Class school only.

A recent act of the State Legislature calls for better sanitary conditions in our school toilets. All unsanitary toilets must be remodeled before school opens September, 1924. At present only one of our toilets complies with the State requirements and that is the one at North Hermon. Three types of toilets are recommended: the chemical toilets, the flush water closets, and the privies connected with the schoolroom by a covered board walk, with separate passageways for the sexes. Some provision, of course, should be made to meet these requirements. We have only three summers for doing this work. We now have twelve toilets of the unapproved type. It is urgently recommended that money be raised each year to remodel four, and then the burden will not fall too heavily on the last year. If possible, the lighting should be changed in the school rooms at the same time. This work may be paid for out of the general repair fund, or a special appropriation for this purpose may be made. I should recommend a general appropriation large enough to take care of the matter.

The Coldbrook schoolhouse is not suitable longer for our present needs. At my last visit there, I found an enrollment of thirty-two where the room is hardly large enough to accommodate half that number. Last fall the seats were rearranged in such a way as to give a little more space. A few other repairs were made; however, it is impossible to make the necessary changes, or, in fact, do anything worth while there out of the general fund. Altho the building may be totally inadequate in a few years, there would be no loss in installing new seats for these could be used any time in another building. Possibly this building is not worth repairing, but if we must continue to use it for school purposes, it should be equipped with new desks and be made a little more comfortable. The children in that school deserve better conditions than those found there.

FREE HIGH SCHOOL

The money spent for our high school has proved an exceptionally good investment. We often hear people say that the teacher is ninety per cent of any school. We can hardly disagree with this statement for we are forced to admit that the success or failure of a school depends almost wholly on the teacher. For our high school, we were fortunate in securing a most efficient and capable teacher, Miss Emma Weeks of Windham. She is a young woman of considerable executive ability and under her instruction, the school has made splendid progress. Twenty-eight pupils have been registered during the year. The enrollment is now twenty-three.

The purchase of high school text-books, and apparatus necessitated quite an outlay of money at the very start, rather more than we had anticipated. However, this should not be surprising when we stop to consider that in the beginning, we had nothing for high school equipment. We have bought, besides the textbooks, apparatus and chemicals for experimental work in general science, and two maps for use of the ancient history class.

Many things are still needed. The teacher's desk and chair are not suitable for any schoolroom. We also need a large unabridged dictionary, and a set of reference books. A typewriter is almost a necessity. If we are to have an up-to-date and well-equipped school, we must have some of these things at once.

CONCLUSION

There has been perfect harmony in this department during the year. The members of the School Board have done everything in their power to make the work of the schools a success. The teachers, too, have cooperated in every way possible for the best interest of the girls and boys. As a result, a good amount of work has been done.

Respectfully submitted,

C. H. GRANT,

Superintendent.
