BABY DAYS

(Boy)

I can recall golden Curls,
Thru our bright childhood years' golden haze,
Nursery days long were past,
But you still had your sweet baby ways,
I saw you each morning at playtime,
At night I looked forward to daytime.

Chorus

I loved you so gallantly then,
You were six, I was ten.
You seemed like a frail china doll,
And I feared you would fall,
I wanted to guard you always,
I was tall, you so small.
My tenderest memory strays,
To thoughts of those dear baby days.

(Girl)

Your yard was right next to mine,
And you used to climb up on the fence;
I waited shyly inside,
Till you called, then our fun would commence,
For you'd always tell me such gay things,
You wanted to give me your playthings

Chorus

You loved me so gallantly then,
I was six, you were ten.
You thought me a frail china doll,
And you feared I would fall,
You wanted to guard me always,
You were tall, I so small.
My tenderest memory strays,
To thoughts of those dear baby days.
