COMMON SCHOOLS.

At the High Head school we have had a school year of thirty weeks divided into a spring term of twelve weeks, a fall term of ten weeks and a winter term of eight weeks.

On account of the irregular attendance, a change in teachers during the term and for numerous other reasons, the spring term was not a success. The fall and winter terms have seen a great improvement in the school. The winter term especially has been a very successful one. The attendance, for a winter term, has been very good, and a wholesome spirit of interest and enthusiasm has marked the work of both teacher and scholars. It is hoped that this spirit may continue and aid the school to still greater improvement.

At the Cove school we had a spring term of twelve weeks which was as successful as could be expected in a school with such a small attendance. During the summer it was found that the number of scholars to attend this school in the fall would be very small, four or five at the most, and after consulting the parents who seemed very much in favor of the plan, it was decided to close the school and send the scholars to Sullivan as tuition scholars.

This plan was carried out, and four scholars have been attending school in Sullivan during the fall and winter terms. This arrangement gives these scholars the benefit of a longer school year with a saving to the town of at least $200 a year. With the small number of scholars at present in this district, I believe the plan should be continued.

At the beginning of the fall term the High Head school was graded, the plan of nine grades being used with the following results:

Grades,	I	II	III	IV	V	VI	VII	VIII	IX	Total
No. scholars,	9	0	0	1	4	0	0	4	0	18

After the school was graded it was placed on a regular outline of work for the year. This course is similar to that used in the larger towns, and has worked out in a very satisfactory manner. The year's work has been principally directed to getting the various classes up to grade, good progress having been made thus far. The grades, however, are not up to the standard desired, but this could hardly be expected at such an early date, as it takes newly-graded schools several years to reach the standard usually required.

A system of report cards has been introduced this year, the reports being sent to parents twice each term. These cards enable parents to keep in touch with the progress of their children in the various branches of the school course, and also show the attendance, punctuality, deportment and effort of the scholar. Parents should carefully examine these cards before signing. When the cards indicate unsatisfactory work, poor deportment or lack of effort the teacher should be consulted. Parents by taking an interest in such matters can do much to aid their children to do better work and increase their interest in the school.

Attendance is a matter over which parents have almost complete control, and irregular attendance at school is usually more the fault of the parents than of the scholar. Parents should realize the great responsibility which rests upon them to give their children the best possible education within their means, and to this end should never allow their children to remain home from school a day unless they have some reasonable excuse.

The attendance this year has improved with each term, but it has not been as good as is desired. The records show that a good many scholars have been absent from one-half day to several days at a time. This should be avoided, if possible, as irregular attendance causes scholars to get behind in their work, and may result in non-promotion at the end of the year.

More visits to our schools from the parents are to be desired. Parents by visiting school can get a better understanding of what the teacher is endeavoring to do for the scholars, and can be an aid to both teacher and scholars in many ways. Along this line the School Improvement league offers an opportunity for parents to show their interest. Parents are eligible to membership in this league as well as scholars.

Much can be done through the agency of the school league to beautify school-rooms and grounds which can be done in no other way. Parents by joining this league can be of much assistance in this work, and I believe every parent should make an effort to make the school-room and grounds, where their children pass so many hours of their childhood, as beautiful and attractive as possible. A league has been organized in the High Head school this year, but not as much has been accomplished as is desired. It is hoped that more of this work will be done next year.

Many towns are now employing special teachers for singing and drawing, and in fact nearly every town progressive in education is adopting this plan for these subjects. I believe a special teacher for these subjects could be employed to advantage in this school district by the several towns sharing in the expense. This plan would make each town's proportional part of the expense small, and give the scholars the benefit of first-class instruction in these subjects. In this State there are quite a number of these teachers employed by several towns sharing in the expense and with good success. I can see no reason why this plan would not be equally successful in this school district.

TEXT-BOOKS.

A new system of reading has been introduced this year, a change made in grammars and spellers and the old series of the Milne arithmetic exchanged for the revised edition by the same author. The High Head school needs a cabinet of maps and a globe, and with these additions will be well supplied with text-books and apparatus. I think the usual appropriation of $25 will be sufficient to purchase the maps and globe and for the other expenses of this account for next year.

A system of text-book accounting has been introduced this year, but to be a success a bookcase large enough to hold all the books and provided with lock and key should be furnished. Under the present arrangement it is not possible to hold the teacher responsible for the books, as there is no way of taking care of them.

Respectfully submitted.

A. W. GORDON,
Superintendent of Schools.
