PLANNING BOARD NEWS

MINUTES OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE VIENNA PLANNING BOARD HELD JANUARY 22, 2013

The meeting convened at 7:00 PM at the Town House; regular members present were Waine Whittier, Alan Williams, Austin Harrell, and Creston Gaither. Town Clerk Annie Tibbetts appeared and swore these members in for new three-year terms.

Minutes of the November 20 meeting were read, corrected and accepted.

The Board agreed that, in the absence of the applicants, it would not deliberate the pending "cell tower" application tonight. The said applicants have requested a change in the date for the Board's February meeting. It was agreed to reschedule this meeting for February 19. Creston will advertise this.

Creston will order the latest land use laws booklet.

The meeting adjourned at 7:45 PM.

MEETING OF THE VIENNA PLANNING BOARD HELD FEBRUARY 19, 2014

The meeting convened at 7:00 PM at the Town House; regular members present were Waine Whittier, Alan Williams, Ed Lawless, Austin Harrell, and Creston Gaither. Also present were Jonathan Lawless, Blaine Hopkins and attorney Andy Hamilton and their Court Reporter.

Blaine Hopkins is an employee of ATC Realty, a wholly owned subsidiary of Global Tower Partners (GTP). Andrew Hamilton is counsel for GTP. Creston had advertised this rescheduled date and time for this meeting, the rescheduling having been requested by GTP and the Board having agreed to this as a courtesy. Ed agreed that he would remain recused from the "cell tower" deliberations.

Minutes of the January 22 meeting were read and accepted.

With regard to GTP's "cell tower" application, Andy referenced Table 1, "Summary of Visual Impact Report" and said the rolling topography of Vienna means there is nearly nowhere where the tower would have no visual impact at all. He said that a site closer to Flying Pond or at a higher elevation might change a few of the "no's" in the application to "yes's." He does not think Section 7.2.E. addresses visual impact but is limited to safety concerns. He said that conflicts with residential property uses are inevitable for contemporary towers and that GTP has done all that it can to find an adequate site without the impact that the proposed site would have but that they've had no success.

Waine noted that the 300 feet figure on page 9 of GTP's latest memo conflicts with a 253 feet figure given elsewhere. Blaine conceded that 253 feet is the more correct figure. He agreed that there is nowhere on the proposed site parcel where the tower could be made to meet the setback requirements of Vienna's "Wireless Telecommunications Facilities Siting Ordinance" (hereinafter 'the Ordinance.').

Andy said that there is pending litigation regarding GTP's proposed Mount Vernon site; he noted a possible conflict of interest among Planning Board members in Rome (where GTP also has an application pending), some Rome Board members being members of Belgrade Regional Conservation Alliance, which opposes the application. There is thus some uncertainty as to how the Rome and Mount Vernon applications will be resolved.

- The Board agreed to use Andy's letter to Waine dated Feb. 12 as a convenient outline for its deliberations.

- The Board found that GTP had met the requirements of Section 7.2A. of the Ordinance as to Priority of Location.
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2.B. that Vienna be included in the primary coverage area.
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirements of Sect. 7.2.D. as to height.
- Consideration of Sect. 7.2.E. "Setbacks" was postponed temporarily.
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2.F, "Landscaping."
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2.G. "Fencing."
- As no lighting is required the Board found that Sect. 7.2. H. is not applicable in the present case.
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2.I, "Color and Materials" by proposing neutral colors.
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2. J, "Structural Standards" as 3 licensed engineers have approved the proposed structure.
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2. K, "Visual Impact" as the Ordinance is specific to sites identified in the Comprehensive Plan and not nearby residences. However, the Board voted 4 - 0 that it believes that the proposed site meets the visual impact provisions of Sect. K but finds that Sect. K 1. F is an onerous provision as it would require testing every site in Town.
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2. L, "Noise"
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2. M, "Historic & Archaeological Properties."
- The Board found that GTP had met the requirement of Sect. 7.2. N, "Environmental Impact." by proposing minimal excavation and presenting a suitable Erosion Control Plan.

As to Sect. 7.2.E. "Setbacks:" the aforementioned letter of Feb. 12 reiterates a request for exemption from the setback requirements of the Ordinance. Waine read a document outlining his thoughts and pointing out specific safety hazards which would pertain to a collapse of the proposed structure. He said that because the abutting property is residential such risks should be considered conservatively and that the word "may" in the Ordinance should be construed to allow the Board thus to deny the exception. Andy said he would like to have engineers address Waine's concerns and that there is always some risk.

Waine asked whether GTP would consider writing to abutter Charlene Stevens offering to buy an easement that would allow them to move the tower somewhat easterly so that it would conform. Alan said he'd be willing to deliver such a letter to Mrs. Stevens in his capacity as an old friend of hers and not as a representative of either the Planning Board or GTP. Andy and Blaine said they'd be willing to try this. Blaine said doing this would likely require an additional two months. The Board therefore voted 4 - 0 to table the application until the end of April.

The meeting adjourned at 9:00 PM.

30 MILE WATERSHED NEWS

Flying Pond Watershed Survey this May

Flying Pond is a resource to our community. Whether you have property right on the pond; use it for swimming, boating, fishing, snowmobiling or skating; appreciate the tax revenue that it generates; or simply enjoy its beauty, it is important to us. To keep it clean and vital now and for the future, it is critical to restrict erosion and runoff, which are the largest sources of pollution and degradation of water quality. A problem can occur anywhere in the watershed – right on the edge of the pond or miles away on a steep slope.

The inset map shows the Flying Pond watershed – all the surrounding land that slopes and drains towards the lake. Later this spring, the Flying Pond Improvement Association and the 30 Mile River Watershed Association, in cooperation with the Maine Department of Environmental Protection, will conduct a survey of the entire Flying Pond watershed area to identify and document potential sources of pollution. The survey is funded by a grant from the Davis Conservation Foundation. Similar surveys have already been done for nearby Minnehonk, Parker, Tilton, and David Ponds.

The survey fieldwork will kick-off Friday, May 9th and be completed within a couple of weeks. Teams of trained volunteers headed by technical experts will be conducting the survey. The data collected will be used to assess potential threats to Flying Pond and devise recommendations to fix the problems. We can then apply for grant funds to address those areas of highest risk. A summary of the survey results will be available in the fall.

If you would like to volunteer to help conduct the survey, if you have questions, or if you would like to learn more about the 30 Mile River Watershed Association, please contact me.

Marijuana Legalization And Use: What We Know and Do Not Know

Laws and norms about marijuana are shifting rapidly. Starting with medical use legalization several years ago, laws have now been passed or are being considered in many states, including Maine, to decriminalize possession and use. Will that be a good thing for the public health of Vienna and Mt. Vernon?

At the risk of sounding like an old fuddy duddy, I have reservations; my greatest is the likely impact on youth. We know they already use marijuana commonly (50% have tried it by 12th grade), and that use will likely increase if it is more available, even if use by minors is prohibited. There will be more around. Several case-controlled studies over the last decade indicate permanent cognitive damage to users under 18, even after they grow up and stop smoking weed. The permanent deficits are in executive function, memory, and reaction times. Those deficits are measurably worse than those in non-users. And many studies of chronic users show functional and anatomical brain scan changes in the hippocampus and frontal lobes, just those areas still maturing in teenagers. And there are a worrisome number of case reports of marijuana use acutely inducing a first episode of schizophrenia in teens. However, overall schizophrenia prevalence in users is no higher than in non-users, so it may be just that the disease is triggered in young adults already predisposed to develop it?

I also have concerns about the potential bad effects of smoking the marijuana. Because that delivery method is so quick and effective, it is unlikely users will ever prefer to ingest it, let alone use suppositories. We know tobacco smoking clearly kills people at least 10 years prematurely from chronic bronchitis/emphysema, heart disease and cancers. It cannot be good to inhale hemp smoke either, as Dennis Keschl pointed out at the mid-February Mt. Vernon Community Center open meeting with local legislators. What little research we now have suggests there is less damage and risk in smoking marijuana than tobacco. But I'd like more research; it took 40-50 years for the grim data on cigarette smoking to become clear. I also suspect that smoking dope increases the likelihood that a person will also continue or take up tobacco smoking.

As the chairman of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles Medical Advisory Committee, I'm also concerned about marijuana-related driving crashes in all age groups. Acute intoxication clearly impairs reaction times and distance judgments. Unlike alcohol however, marijuana tends to slow driving speeds and recklessness down, so crash rates are a tenth as frequent as in alcohol drunk drivers, but still about twice those of sober drivers. Unfortunately we don't have good screening tests for police to use in the field and there is no consensus about what constitutes an intoxicating blood level of tetra-hydro-cannabinol, the measurable marijuana psychoactive component. So identifying dangerous marijuana intoxication is going to become an increasing public health issue that needs work now.

Assertions that marijuana is a "gateway" drug to narcotic and other illicit drug use are reassuringly unsupported by the medical literature. But the published research on the drug is still pretty meager, reflecting, for the most part, the total Federal prohibition. Scientific investigators can't get standardized doses to study; plants and their various parts vary greatly in the cannabinoid concentrations. Most of the reports available now are only case control studies. But one large 40-year study from New Zealand is a continuous study of 1000 children (a cohort) born in the 1970s who were tested for IQ and other cognitive skills throughout the study period. However, even with a cohort study, we can't be sure that those who use marijuana aren't doing so to self-treat a learning disorder or because of a particular behavioral trait. In other words, the study may still suffer from selection bias because participants decide themselves if they choose to use marijuana. We need a lot more research ASAP!

So I favor legalization, control, and standardization. We would never let a pharmaceutical drug go to market with so many unknowns and potential risks. Medically marijuana has its uses; I've always encouraged my patients on chemotherapy to try it for their nausea. But the current environment in which it is only available legally with a doctor's prescription, results in recreational users pressuring clinicians to prescribe it for questionable symptoms, a waste of everyone's time. If it hurts teens, we need to know that and develop more effective ways to prevent their using it. The current prohibition system is not working well to protect the potentially most vulnerable or to encourage further research in the many other areas of possible unintended consequences. We need more research and data fast, and that's most likely to happen in a controlled legalization.

DR. SHAW MEMORIAL LIBRARY NEWS - APRIL 2014

“Books are like seeds. They can lie dormant for centuries and then flower in the most unpromising soil.” (Carl Sagan)

We have a copy of George Smith’s book, A Life Lived Outdoors – he even signed it! Unfortunately, every time we put it on the mantel in the main room for display, it disappears again within five minutes, checked out to another patron. We can put it on reserve for you, or you can take your chances and see if you can be the next one to grab it from the shelf. Meanwhile, Peter Korn, another Maine author and a master craftsman, has written a book entitled Why We Make Things and Why It Matters. It is an interesting perspective on the personal aspects of discovering creativity and love of your chosen work. We also have the recent anthology of Maine poetry put together by Wes McNair, called Take Heart: Poems From Maine. We’ve been seeing quite a revival of interest in poetry in Maine in recent years. McNair’s anthology is a good place to start. Also on the mantel are Russell Libby’s last book of poems, What You Should Know: a Field Guide to Three Sisters Farm, and Richard Blanco’s memoir, For All of Us, One Today. We love our Maine authors.

We are thinking of scheduling an informational session or two on ereaders and ebooks, we’ll let you know when we put it together. Meanwhile, there are places to go on the web which offer free books. We’ve mentioned the Maine State Library’s Downloadable Book Project. Go to www.state.me.us/msl and then click on “Download library for e books and audiobooks”, under the section marked “Popular Services”. To sign up, use the four digit handwritten number we’ve put on your library card, which will identify you with our library. We are a member of this project.

You can also go to the Gutenberg Project, www.gutenberg.org. Someone recently recommended a novella entitled Wired Love, by turn-of-the-century author Ella Cheever Thayer, which is available at Gutenberg, and I enjoyed it very much. Their website is pretty easy to use. Our last recommendation for now, is to check out the list of “20 best websites to download free ebooks”, at:

www.hongkiat.com/blog/20-best-websites-to-download-free-e-books/

Want to make some tarts? Or small quick breads? Tortilla shells to hold salads or chili? We’ve got some baking pans you could borrow instead of having to buy pans or forms you might only use occasionally. We’ve included a recipe with each pan for you to try, and then you can copy it if you like it.

Remember to share your garden seeds with us! We had lots of people take seeds from our “exchange” last spring, but no one has been in to replenish our supply. Bring in your veggie seeds, labelled with variety and approximate date, and we’ll make them available to others. Libraries are all about sharing resources!

I just finished rereading Barry Commoner’s The Closing Circle, one of his titles from the 70s, still relevant today. What are you reading as the ice weakens and the woodshed path turns to mud?

LETTERS TO TOWNS FROM THE STATESTATE OF MAINE
OFFICE OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY
PROSECUTORIAL DISTRICT IVMaeghan Maloney
District AttorneyKennebec County Courthouse
95 State Street
Augusta, ME 04330Somerset County Courthouse
41 Court Street
Skowhegan, ME 04976January 1, 2014
Dear Friends,

It's been a whirlwind of a year! The District Attorney's Office has seen big changes but the quality of the work and commitment to justice has stayed as strong as ever.

While I respect and honor those who have served the District Attorney's Office in the past, I can not imagine a more dedicated and intelligent group of people than those with whom I have the pleasure to work. I encourage you to visit us in our offices in Augusta, Waterville, and Skowhegan. While I could write glowing pages about each person in the office, I want to at least be sure to introduce you to our new Deputy District Attorney, Fernand LaRoche. Fern is the former Chief of the Criminal Unit at the Office of the Attorney General. His wisdom, experience, and patience influence everything we do. We are all grateful for the opportunity to work with him!

The focus of the Office this year has been "Smart on Crime." We strive to turn around first time and low level offenders while putting the most dangerous criminals in jail for as long as possible. Here are some examples:

One of the first decisions I made was to allow the US Attorney's Office to prosecute pharmacy robberies. These robberies were at epidemic proportions in our counties and a tougher approach was clearly needed. Longer sentences are possible at the federal level than the state level. I am glad to see that the number of pharmacy robberies has plunged. When law enforcement works together the results are more successful.

After the jury trial conviction of Javier Olmo for Class A, Aggravated Drug Trafficking in oxycodone, the Office passionately sought the longest sentence possible, concluding that his extensive list of priors made rehabilitation unlikely. The judge agreed and sentenced him to 10 years in prison, none of it suspended.

In contrast, Christopher Knight had a long list of burglaries (most outside the statute of limitations) but had never before been convicted of a crime. After "the team" at the co-occurring disorders court ("CODC") concluded he was worth the risk of trying to rehabilitate, I agreed to a "good" sentence of county jail with a "bad" state prison sentence hanging over his head. In general, I'm not in favor of short state prison sentences as this time can teach people to be better criminals. If we can use an intensive alternative program like the CODC (which requires weekly meetings with Justice Mills, counseling, drug screening and employment or school attendance) to turn defendants into productive, law-abiding citizens, then we have been successful. Not to mention that, even with the intensity of the CODC, it is still less expensive for taxpayers than the cost of incarceration.

Speaking of alternative sentencing, the Veterans' Court in Kennebec County is thriving. It has grown to over twice the size it was back in January of 2013. I learned about veterans' courts when I was in the legislature, sponsoring a bill for our own veterans' court in Maine. Any of you who have watched the MPBN broadcast of A Matter of Duty, fully understands the impact this court has had on the lives of veterans. Being a part of this amazing program has shown me the true meaning of criminal justice.

Here are some alternative programs our office is pursuing with community partners: 1) a new alternative program for first time OUI's with a BAC of under 1.0 in Kennebec County; 2) a new alternative program for drug related crimes in Somerset County; 3) a new group focused on high lethality domestic violence cases in Somerset County; 4) a new use of Restorative Justice in sentencing when requested by victims; and 4) a continued support of the alternative sentencing program in Kennebec County for those serving less than 10 days in jail. I am indebted to numerous community partners for making all this possible for the people of Kennebec and Somerset counties.

We have taken a hard stance against domestic violence which has increased our success of victims appearing at trial in high lethality cases. At the same time, we are giving victims control over their lives in cases without a high lethality rating.

Our most serious and heartbreaking cases continue to be our child sexual assault cases. These always create a dilemma as it can be difficult for the child to testify in Court, but we want to pursue the longest prison sentence possible.

It is a privilege and an honor to work with you. Every day I am in awe of the hardworking people in our towns and cities, law enforcement, the Courts, local nonprofits, attorneys, and others working to bring justice to the people of Kennebec and Somerset counties.

Thank you,

Maeghan

February 24,2014

Dear citizens of Vienna:

As a state, we have taken great strides over the course of the past years.

Growing our economy, decreasing our energy costs, and improving our educational system are the priorities of my administration. Maine needs to create a pro-growth environment that encourages our businesses to create jobs. It is critical that we focus on promoting policies which support and attract new investment. To achieve this, we need to keep taxes low on our families and businesses, and find ways to increase efficiency in government while protecting our most vulnerable citizens.

We have made great progress toward these endeavors. We passed the largest tax cut in Maine's history. Two-thirds of Maine taxpayers will get income tax relief, and 70,000 low-income Mainers will no longer pay income tax. My goal is to continue to drive down Maine's income tax.

We are striving to also cut the cost of electricity through our spearheading of a regional effort with Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island to expand the use of hydropower in Maine. Additionally, Maine is currently one of the fastest states in natural gas expansion.

We have passed legislation that will decrease the cost of health insurance for school districts, allowing more money to be spent in the classroom. Putting students first is important to me. Education is what saved my life, and I want every child in Maine to have the same opportunity I had. With the passage of charter school legislation, hundreds of mills now have options for their children'

There's still a lot to do. The recent decision by the legislature to take money from our state's rainy day fund in order to pay revenue sharing in 2015 is fiscally irresponsible. We need government decision makers to act responsibly.

Maine has a great tradition of civic involvement and citizen participation in the decision making process' Thank you for taking the time to become informed and for working with your neighbors to hold government accountable.

It is a pleasure serving as your Governor. If ever I can be of assistance to you or you have any questions or suggestions, I encourage you to contact my office by calling 287-3531 or by visiting our website at www.maine.gov/governor.

Sincerely,
Paul R. LePage
Governor
