Journal #11

This week I have continued to go on runs throughout my town. I am kind of laughing to myself because I am realizing how repetitive my outdoor activities are becoming. Earlier in the week, I was thinking about checking out some trails in a nearby state park but my brother's car was blocking mine in and he was nowhere to be found. I would definitely like to go and do more activities but many places are closed down and everyone is staying home. It is nice, however, to see when people are out enjoying the nice days at the parks. I really hope that the lockdown will end soon so that I will be able to get out more and because I really miss my girlfriend.
