Asymptomatic Screening Dashboard Update for Fall Safe Return:

- 1,398 Tests to Date
- 1 Positive Tests Results

Dashboard Timing Note: Over 1,000 asymptomatic tests were conducted on Monday, August 23, across the University of Maine System. Many of those results are being received by the universities today and students are being released from quarantine arrival requirements. The asymptomatic dashboard is updated once daily and results we learn about today will be viewable tomorrow.

UMS News

542 spaces for isolation or quarantine: As part of its safe returning planning the University of Maine System universities have set aside or identified more than 500 safe spaces that can be used to quarantine or isolate students. At present only one space is being used for quarantine.

Arrival Screening at USM in Gorham: Chancellor Malloy and President Glenn Cummings welcomed University of Southern Maine Students to the Gorham campus for move-in and arrival screening earlier today.

Chancellor Dannel Malloy speaks with USM student Nathan Henry, a Business Marketing Major from Brewer, Maine, moving into his residence hall today. Link to Photo

I want to inform you of a case of COVID in the UMFK community. We are committed to transparency and want to remind you that there will be a daily update of active COVID cases involving Maine CDC isolation posted to the University of Maine System's Together for Maine website. The UMFK case will appear in the update early this afternoon.

We have confirmed that a student received a positive test for COVID-19 in a venue not associated with the University's asymptomatic screening strategy. The student is in isolation and working with Maine CDC. We are pleased to report that the student is asymptomatic and doing well.

We will talk more about this tomorrow at our Town Hall, but now that we are monitoring the situation and the student is taking their isolation very seriously.

Be safe and don't forget to ROAR!

Deb Hedeem
