9 — Known Cases in Maine CDC Isolation By Campus Community

- 6 UMaine
- 1 UMF
- 1 USM
- 1 Maine Law

There are no known cases of COVID-19 in Maine CDC isolation at any of the other University of Maine System universities. Data reflects ACTIVE known cases identified through all testing venues known to the University (The UMS asymptomatic screening and other venues). Data reflects all known cases involving students, faculty, and staff residing on and off campus.

When an individual is released from an isolation order by the Maine CDC the active case number shared in the Together for Maine daily update is reduced to reflect that change.

UMS News

ConvenientMD UMS Patient Results Portal to Undergo Update Overnight: The University of Maine System will be making an update to the patient result portal tonight (Saturday into Sunday, August 30, 2020) to address student account access challenges.

The patient result portal was established to provide students with faster access to testing results. Transcription errors and blank or inaccurate data fields have prevented some students from verifying information as part of the account activation process. Student data were never compromised.

The update tonight using verified University information linked to student @maine.edu email addresses will resolve most of the issues preventing account verification.

Students with active accounts will have to reset their passwords. The University of Maine System universities will be alerting students to the update and providing instructions for resetting passwords on Sunday, August 30.
