

Game Banquet

The student chapter of the Wildlife Society hosts the annual game banquet at the Penobscot County Conservation Clubhouse in Brewer. The game banquet brings together students, faculty, and wildlife professionals to enjoy an evening of entertainment and conversation. Food is donated by hunters, fishermen, trappers, chapter members, and faculty. It is prepared by members and served in stews and casseroles. Several varieties of fish, fowl, and wild game are served. Examples of the food savored in the past are: muskrat dumplings, venison, bear roast, rabbit stew, woodcock and ruffed grouse fricassee, mooseburgers, mussels, fried smelts, squirrel stew, barbecued raccoon, fish, salads, and breads. The evening concludes with the awarding of door prizes, music, and entertainment after the meal.

Society of American Foresters

Where can one find an endless source of information, presented to you in a relaxed atmosphere, with never a dull moment? If the Student Chapter of the Society of American Foresters crossed your mind, you're right!

Being a member and a participant in this organization offers an unlimited opportunity. We bring forestry and related fields to you—at home and personal! We want to give you the chance to meet key people on a one-to-one basis.

Highlights of some of this year's meetings dealt with consulting forestry practices, a tour of the Big A dam site and surrounding area, and a discussion of the proposed changes in forestry registration, to mention a few.

SAF was also involved with the Common Ground Fair again this year. This is becoming quite a tradition and lots of fun!

The potential of SAF is limited only by us. A lot of folks is what makes SAF fun! Come join us—broaden your horizons—have some fun!!

Woodsmen's Team

This year was a "rebuilding" year for the UMO Woodsmen's team. The addition of quite a few freshmen indicated that there was still a good deal of interest in the team.

Fall semester started with a bang at Unity, the usual first meet of the year. The combined-event schedule of competition at the Unity meet is always a nice change from the usual competition format. Here our Women's Team brought home a first place trophy. After Unity, the team went on a road trip to New Brunswick to show their skills. Competition was fierce, however people were still able to keep a sense of fun about them.

Spring semester began on a lesser note. The Annual Mount Desert Island Lion's Club Winter Carnival was the scene of a two-day demonstration put on by the team. For the past few years, this has been the traditional warm-up session for the team before the semester's competitions roll around.

For the third year in a row, UMO hosted its Maine Winter Logging Days competition here on campus. Teams from regional colleges came to compete, and a good time was had by everyone. Our Men's Team placed second overall. Individual first place trophies were won by the men in speed chop and fire build, and the women took pulp toss, fire build, and splitting.

The final two meets of the year were both in the State of New Hampshire, the first being at UNH. The UNH team were great hosts, putting on a wonderful meet, as did Dartmouth, who hosted the annual ritual of Spring Meet. All teams in the region showed up to compete for the Northeastern Collegiate Championship there.

All in all, it was a good year for the team. Spirits and interest were high, and it is hoped that they will remain so.

Environmental Awareness Committee

We may not be visible to everyone in the College, but school teachers in the area know us as the Environmental Awareness Committee (E.A.C.). Our organization consists of a group of students from the College of Forest Resources and other colleges who are interested in natural resources and education. This year we provided programs to over 1,300 children and adults.

Members were greeted by enthusiastic kids eager to learn about birds, mammals, ecology, and other environmental topics. We enjoyed listening to children's stories and answering their questions. The best part is getting the thank you letters:

"Dear E.A.C.,

Thank you for coming to our humble school.
I liked the films. I also liked the beaver skull.

Your Friend,
Jason

P.S. I hope you come back next year."

This spring we were kept busy with Scout Night, which was a success. Imagine over 100 scouts invading Nutting Hall and exploring topics about Man and His Environment.

If someone ever "volunteers" you to present an E.A.C. program, accept the challenge and join the fun!

We're Making
Great Northern Paper...
GREATER

Great News for Newspaper Publishers

At Great Northern, we've produced quality newsprint for newspaper publishers since 1900. Now we're gearing up for the 21st century by modernizing production from top to bottom - $155 million worth. By 1987 our great newsprint publishing paper will be more uniform, stronger and whiter than ever.

In fact, we propose to manufacture at East Millinocket the best newspaper publishing paper in North America.

Building a Great New Forest

Improving our newspaper publishing paper isn't the only change in the works. We're also managing the forest for the next generation. We plant seedlings from our own greenhouses, selectively applying herbicides to discourage competing growth. When trees get older, we start to thin them out in another step to encourage growth.

Modern techniques are vital to sound management. Great Northern foresters are likely to spend as much time planning on a computer as they do in the woods. And Great Northern Paper forests are growing faster and healthier because of what is described as intensive forest management.

A Great Maine Tradition Continues

Back in 1900, when Great Northern was building its Millinocket mill, people were so fascinated that the Bangor and Aroostook had to run special sightseeing trains to the site. Even now, Great Northern touches the lives of Maine people every day. When the vast majority of you read the daily news, chances are it was printed on our paper. The pages in your telephone book probably came right from the Millinocket mill. If your business relies on carbonless forms or computer paper, you might be using ours. We're always looking for ways to serve people better. It's part of our reputation.

Keeping That Tradition Alive

At Great Northern, we're out to prove that manufacturing still has a place on the American scene, providing quality products made in northern Maine mills. In addition to the modernization of the East Millinocket facilities, we are planning for the future of the Millinocket mill. With this careful planning, savvy marketing, and by responding to our customers' needs promptly and fully, we will continue to serve the needs of people and businesses in Maine, the nation and overseas.

Great Northern Paper. We're making it greater the American way.

"Trees don't just drink water, they clean it."

"It's a fact. Long before we had purification plants, the green leaves on the world's plants and trees filtered all the water.

"But as we've made room for a growing population and larger cities, we've lost much of that purifying power.

"And the fact remains, our forests can do a lot for us. We need to replenish them—and manage them—more carefully than ever before.

"Our job is growing. Help keep our water clean. Write..."

Finally this book is off to press! Credit for this year's theme goes to Larry Gering. There are a few people who I owe a great deal of thanks to, for this job would never have gotten done otherwise: Andy Alexson (who thought he was done and gone from this place for coming back; Cary O'Neill for the illustrations; and Louie Morin for all his patience and help with every aspect of the book, especially darkroom work. I also want to thank those people who typed, proofread and identified faces: Laurie Shaw, Mary Lou Hodge, Lynne Lavoie and Al Kimball; Mary Viik for her help with the darkroom; and all those who contributed to the dedication, Quotable Quotes and articles. Also I would like to thank my brother, Tom, and sister, Tina (excuse me, Christina), for their help and contributions.
