I have a coworker who tested positive for COVID-19 and is returning to work after isolating. Is it safe for the rest of us to be on-site with this person?

November 17, 2020 | Faculty, staff and students, Health and safety, Testing

All campus community members who have returned from isolation after testing positive for COVID-19 have been cleared to do so by the Maine CDC and UMaine EOC.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention FAQs address this subject, including when it is safe to be around others.

It is important that all health and safety measures be followed to maintain community well-being, including wearing face coverings, and maintaining social distancing and good hand hygiene.
