

00:39:34 tiffany.peterson@maine.edu: Agreed! Thank you for making a zoom link available!

00:40:11 Justin: Hear! Hear!

00:40:21 Erik Blomberg: would be nice to have the screen in view

00:40:27 Erik Blomberg: sound is great

00:40:31 Justin: true

00:40:36 michael.weber: Agreed! Audio is great! Thank you for setting up Zoom!

00:41:10 Erik Blomberg: thanks

00:58:06 Justin: On scale: How many Zoom interactions can be hosted simultaneously

00:58:50 Justin: There were reports in the School of Learning and Teaching last week that faculty were locked out of Zoom

00:59:29 Justin: We weren't clear if that was an issue with Zoom in general or an issue for our license agreement

01:00:06 Neil Shelley: I tested Zoom with my class yesterday, in person. By default, (if I'm not mistaken) you should have the ability to have 100 simultaneous connections.

01:00:26 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: There are currently 171 of us on now

01:00:39 kristendonovan (she/hers): I think we can have up to 300 people in a meeting

01:00:49 Justin: It was more how many distinct meetings can UMaine host?

01:00:54 kristendonovan (she/hers): Per the Zoom training I had with CITL this morning. Thanks CITL!

01:01:00 Justin: At one time

01:01:15 Neil Shelley: Ah, not sure about that one.

01:01:16 Edwin Nagy: Please repeat questions for those of us online.

01:01:16 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Great question Justin!

01:01:19 Cynthia Loftin: It would be helpful if the speaker would repeat the question

01:01:24 Jonathan Rubin: Please ask the speaker to repeat questions

01:01:28 Teri Mann: Could questions be repeated?

01:01:29 Beth: Those of us on Zoom can't hear the questions

01:01:36 Deirdre Boylan: Can someone repeat the questions into the microphone?

01:01:45 Pank Agrawal, PhD: Sarah H. - cool, how do you see 171 of us right now?

01:01:47 margaretlukens: Please REPEAT THE QUESTION for those of us on Zoom

01:02:04 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Next to the participants icon there is a number

01:02:12 maryellenmahoneyoneil: If a graduate course is meeting off campus, at a local high school, can that course continue to meet as a live course or does it also need to move online?

01:02:51 alisia.revitt@maine.edu: Pank A - At the bottom of the screen are those icons with "unmute", "start video" all that stuff, and one of them says "Participants" and next to it is currently 169, which is the number of participants.

01:03:00 Pank Agrrawal, PhD: Thanks

01:03:06 Teri Mann: What options will be made for those accessing tutoring services?

01:03:44 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Are students unable to work on campus?

01:04:27 emily.j.baker: What about time zones? Are students who are from the west coast going to be expected to attend their 8am zoom lecture at 5am?

01:04:33 haohong: Thanks for mentioning students who need jobs. It will be tough for them.

01:04:46 kristendonovan (she/hers): I think that's the argument for asynchrony, for sure

01:05:14 Erin Vinson: Agreed - we can't even imagine the other things students will be dealing with when they go home.

01:05:24 Beth: I'd also like to know if work study students can still work

01:05:40 echapman@maine.edu: Tutor Program services will continue. Students will meet via Zoom.

01:06:07 haohong: Some students told me that they could not work on campus (dining halls, e.g.). That's why they need to find jobs in this already chaotic situation...

01:06:12 Pank Agrrawal, PhD: I took a class poll in my 160 student classes, almost all wanted asynchronous video of lectures.

01:06:13 tiffany.peterson@maine.edu: How will graduate assistants be impact by this?

01:06:28 Erin Vinson: We are doing everything we can to ensure Maine Learning Assistants keep working in their respective courses as well.

01:08:44 Erin Vinson: I work on and UMaine is home to the journal CourseSource - a peer-reviewed open-access journal of evidence-based teaching resources for undergraduate biology education. We have some great online teaching resources!

01:09:47 Gabrielle: what ideas do people have for classes that involve public speaking?

01:11:04 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: You can do class polls in Zoom as well

01:11:36 jennifermcnulty: ZOOM or Kaltura could work for public speaking. A student can make a video and upload it to Blackboard or use ZOOM and do it in real-time.

01:15:58 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Can research that involves human subject groups on campus (less than 20 people) still continue?

01:18:29 James JS: Is there a campus wide or system wide subscription to Slack like there is for zoom?

01:18:37 kristendonovan (she/hers): Doesn't Slack require payment after a certain number of interactions? Are there FERPA concerns to use for courses?

01:19:08 kristendonovan (she/hers): I'm assuming that Discord might have similar questions re: FERPA constraints

01:19:14 Karen Miller: Yes Slack has a limit of

01:20:16 maryellenmahoneyoneil: Will there be a protocol in place moving forward for our outreach programs that work in public schools etc. (such as Upward Bound, Maine Talent Search)

01:23:24 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Will students who come back from states such as CA and CT need to self-quarantine for 2 weeks?

01:28:01 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Thank you for using the microphone so we can all hear :)

01:28:33 Karen Miller: Will the librarians be available for research via email, zoom etc

01:29:41 James JS: I'm sure official word will come out soon, but I know that Fogler Library is actively planning on how to best support students and faculty during this time

01:29:58 Justin: I second making things as simple as possible for our students

01:30:20 JaredTalbot: It may be too early to tell, but students are asking me if there will be a graduation ceremony this year. Has the university made preliminary plans about this yet?

01:31:09 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Great question! How will ADA accommodations be supported?

01:31:52 Sara Henry: Hi this is Sara Henry. Student Accessibility Services is working on this at the current time. We have some plans in place and are working at others.

01:31:53 Alan Cobo-Lewis: Yes, timed tests as suggested earlier (eg, tophat) would have to include different timing if required as an accommodation

01:33:50 jennifermcnulty: What about students who are conducting their internships on campus?

01:33:59 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Will students who come back from states such as CA and CT need to self-quarantine for 2 weeks?

01:34:04 Kelley Strout: Can we allow our students to finish up clinical placements during spring break?

01:34:39 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: What about students who currently live off campus?

01:35:14 Sara Henry: Student Accessibility Services is contacting faculty to find out about course delivery and work with them on how to set up accommodations like extra time on tests and find Universal Design options that may help all students.

01:35:51 Ryan LaRochelle: Will there be storage available for students who cannot move all of their belongings out on such short notice? Several students asked about this in my classes today.

01:36:31 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Can research that involves UG research assistants and human subject groups on campus (less than 20 people) still continue?

01:38:54 alisia.revitt@maine.edu: There are no plans for statewide public library closures currently.

01:39:10 rarnold: We have already been asked if students can come to campus to work on group projects – What should the response be to those folks?

01:39:52 alisia.revitt@maine.edu: Decisions like that would come from the municipality or the library themselves if they are not part of a municipality.

01:40:18 jennifermcnulty: They could work on group projects through ZOOM.

01:45:37 bonnie.newsom: Will faculty illness and continuity of instruction be handled at the Department level?

01:50:39 Katherine Allen: Can individual undergraduate students continue to conduct laboratory research after spring break if they live locally?

01:51:29 rarnold: Are students coming back from Study Abroad designated to be tested prior to coming back?

01:54:44 kristendonovan (she/hers): How long is this supposed to last? In other words, is there an end date? Summer research can start May 11 or?

01:55:10 Amanda Klemmer: Yes, students are asking about their summer work on campus and classes this summer, etc.

01:56:43 MJ Sedlock: What is the question!!

01:56:48 Teri Mann: ???

01:57:36 rarnold: Has the been announced

01:58:08 Teri Mann: Please repeat the questions

01:58:17 Alisia Revitt: repeat the question please?

01:58:22 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Thank you for repeating the question so we can all here please

01:58:25 Alisia Revitt: and the last one was about...?

01:58:35 Erin Vinson: Research symposium in april i think...

01:58:44 tcole: Student Symposium has been postponed. Any virtual possibilities?

01:59:09 Deborah: What is the plan for graduation?

01:59:25 sarah.howorth@maine.edu: Thank you for repeating the question so we can all here please

01:59:39 tcole: Can't imagine there will be a commencement unless things improve dramatically

02:00:01 Deborah: virtual commencement?

02:00:37 margaretlukens: Student Symposium has been cancelled, HOWEVER, the March 13 deadline for abstracts is still in place for the presumptive rescheduling of the event (might be fall 2020)

02:00:52 Erin Vinson: Thank you!

02:02:13 Erin Vinson: Are department seminars and colloquia canceling?

02:02:55 kristendonovan (she/hers): And other meetings between faculty, like CoPs (Erin I'm looking at you!)?

02:02:58 Edwin Nagy: I think we just took our department seminar series virtual...

02:03:25 Erin Vinson: We'll do the same, Kristen - meeting virtually. But I'll confirm soon!

02:03:32 maryellenmahoneyoneil: We have cancelled the award ceremony for our College that was scheduled for April 15.

02:03:44 Erin Vinson: Thanks, Edwin. We have a speaker coming in April from Calgary...and not sure what to tell her yet.

02:03:57 maryellenmahoneyoneil: Will work on creating a virtual experience!

02:05:14 tcole: I don't know that we have done it yet, but I would think we have to reassess the CLAS Awards Ceremony on April 27. The awards will be granted and winners acknowledged, but the event itself is probably not going to be held. This is not official yet, I'm just thinking through the logic of the situation.

02:06:57 Amanda Klemmer: Just so my question is on the record, is there going to be a university policy on Graduate defenses, etc. where groups of people

aggregate

02:07:07 Erin Vinson: Thank you!
02:07:13 kristendonovan (she/hers): Thank you!
02:07:19 Edwin Nagy: Happy remote teaching all!
02:07:56 Jane puhlman: fingers crossed zoom doesn't crash 😊
02:08:01 Robin Delcourt: Thank you all for your questions. We'll put more information out as it becomes available. Your questions and comments are very helpful.
