To the Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Ellsworth:

We submit herewith the report of the superintendent of schools, which reviews very thoroughly the work of the past year in this department. Further report from the school board seems superfluous, but we do wish to emphasize some matters touched upon by the superintendent.

The need of a larger appropriation for text books than was granted last year is apparent. Only those having to do directly with the schools realize the disgraceful condition existing in regard to text books. Under the present law, by which the city supplies text books, owing to inadequate funds it is necessary to pass down from class to class books that have long outlived their usefulness. Defaced, torn and unclean, these books become ready purveyors of disease, and the health of children is jeopardized on the plea of economy. Few parents avail themselves of the law under which they may buy books from the city, at cost, for their children. It may not be possible to realize that ideal condition when each child entering a class can receive from the city a brand new book which becomes its property, to be preserved in after years, but we can approach nearer to it than at present by sooner discarding books that have become worn and soiled. It is too much to expect a child to take as much care of a book that has already passed through several hands as it would one of its own, and habits of cleanliness and care of books are not promoted by the use of books in the condition of many they are now compelled to use.

We also call attention to the remarks of the superintendent in regard to concentration of schools. The obstacles in the way of this were clearly shown during the past school year, but the necessity for it is none the less apparent, and the modern trend is all that way.

We have kept within the appropriations in the several funds in our care, and believe we are reasonable in our requests for appropriations for the coming year, i.e.: Common schools, $1,500; high school, $2,300; supplies, $750; schoolhouse, $400.

Mrs. Clara O. Hopkins, who was elected superintendent in the spring, has worked faithfully and conscientiously for the improvement of the schools, and has gained an intelligent grasp of the school situation in Ellsworth. We commend her report to the careful reading of your board and the people of Ellsworth generally.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. Titus, Chairman,
E. J. Walsh,
E. K. Hopkins,
School Committee.
REPORT
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS,

Gentlemen of the School Committee of the City of Ellsworth:

In accordance with the usual custom I beg leave to submit the report of the superintendent of schools for the year ending February 18, 1911.

I am very glad to report there is a balance on the right side of all four funds that are at the disposal of this office.

COMMON SCHOOLS.

Teachers. The staff of teachers is practically the same as last year. A few changes were necessary because one school, No. 1, was discontinued and three teachers resigned their positions.

In the spring of 1910 there was a vacancy at No. 11. Miss Amy Astbury of Bluehill, was elected to fill that position.

At the close of the spring term, you received the resignation of Miss Annie Stockbridge who for several years had taught the primary school, No. 16, and elected Miss Georgia Jude to fill that vacancy.

On account of the decreasing number of pupils at Nos. 1, 7, and 19, in some instances the average maintained was below that required by the State law, these schools were discontinued. The scholars from No. 1 are transported to No. 2 and that school is in charge of Martin A. Garland. Miss Hazel McGown was transferred to No. 8. In August the school board and the city government received petitions from the residents of No. 7, asking that that school might be re-opened. The board, after thoughtful consideration recommended the school should be opened, and subsequently the city government voted to do so. Miss Evelyn DeWitte was elected teacher. Much the same thing occurred in No. 19. A delegation of parents so strenuously pleaded their cause, their petition was granted, and Miss Lyda True was elected teacher.

Miss Curtis resigned her position as teacher of No. 9, and Miss Alice McGown was chosen to fill that place.

Miss Mary Davis taught the spring and fall terms of No. 6, then resigned, and Miss Nina Franklin was elected to fill that vacancy. All these new teachers manifest a keen interest in their work and an earnest desire to achieve success.

Text Books and Supplies. The most rigid economy has been necessary in expending the utterly inadequate amount of money appropriated for text books and supplies and our schools must needs suffer from such questionable thrift.

The appropriation had been reduced from $600 to $400, and from this small sum, a few bills of the preceding year had to be paid, and the requirement of the State law demanded many new books for the high school, so that only most necessary supplies could be purchased for the common schools. No complete set of books has been bought, simply supplementing a few new ones in each study, when the old ones became absolutely worthless.

The spellers, grammars and Barnes' histories are in such a delapidated condition as to be unsightly and unserviceable and must be replaced by new books the coming year. We also need new supplementary readers especially in the lower grades. Several schools have no maps or globes, while others are using maps worn and antiquated. The geography of the world-especially of the U. S., has rapidly changed during the past few years, and new up-to-date maps would stimulate both teacher and pupil to more satsisfactory work.

During the year I have sold some old books and purchased a fine new set of maps, on spring rollers, for school No. 5, also three dictionaries for rural schools not before supplied. I was also fortunate enough to secure some large maps of the United States that were given away at Augusta.

Inquiry shows that $1.00 for each scholar is considered a fair appropriation for text books, when the schools are already well equipped, so the sum of $400 for text books and supplies with the schools meagrely equipped, cannot prove sufficient. Our teachers feel handicapped and long for mod-era, up-to-date supplies to work with. I would recommend the appropriation for the coming year be $750.

COURSE OF STUDY. During the spring term the teachers of the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th grades expressed dissatisfaction with the manner the work in arithmetic and grammar was arranged, consequently I called a teachers' meeting before the fall term opened, and a change was made in the division of the text books, which you will find appended to this report and we trust the results will prove satisfactory.

IMPROVEMENT LEAGUES. There has been a great revival of interest in the School Improvement League. The grammar school at the Falls has purchased a handsome table. Miss Bonsey's school is the proud owner of a fine new organ. No. 2 is getting much pleasure from the subscription to the "Youth's Companion," several others have added to their libraries and pictures, while No. 14, Beechland, enjoys the inestimable privilege of hearing Miss Stanwood tell the fascinating story of the birds, their habits and great usefulness to the farmer.

EYES AND EAR TESTS. In compliance with the State law, the superintendent, assisted by the teachers, has tested the eyes and ears of all the pupils of town and rural schools. The results are filed in the superintend t's office, and in every case where the sight fell below a certain standard the parent or guardian has been notified.

REPAIRS. Minor repairs have been made on the Fine street, Water street, Infant street and the high school buildings. There have been made new steps, platforms and gutters for School street. No. 5 has had new blackboards and other necessary work. The most extensive repairs have been at No. 8 and No. 11 where new doors, window sashes and partial shingling were imperative.

In compliance with the law passed by the last legislature, iron fire escapes have been placed on the School street and Pine street schoolhouses. The school at the Falls has two stairways so that an outside fire escape was not necessary. The doors of all school buildings have been changed to swing outward.

The insurance that became due this year was less than usual, so the schoolhouse fund shows a substantial balance, but I would suggest the same appropriation as last year, as only the most urgent repairs have been attended to, and if some of the schools are not discontinued much more work must be done.

The year has been a busy and I believe a profitable one. The work has been continuous, scarcely a storm signal sounded or holiday granted, and no serious sickness, except one case of diphtheria in No. 2. The school was closed, the books used by the sick pupil destroyed and building thoroughly fumigated.

Efficiency and economy seem to be the watch words of the present day, but the problem of combining efficiency with economy is not one of easy solution. A famous lecturer recently said "that the future of the moral and spiritual world lies in the hands of the teachers; that they represent the most important advance guard of civilization." The excellent teachers of our city schools have this past year, as for many years, rendered splendid service and our scholars have reaped the benefit of having experienced instructors.

State Superintendent Payson Smith emphasizes the fact that Maine is paying lower salaries than most of the States, and we regretfully acknowledge the compensation of our fine teachers falls far below that paid by towns much smaller than Ellsworth. Realizing financial conditions do not warrant the city making much larger appropriations, and that we need an increase rather than decrease in the school year, to fit for the high school, the only solution that suggests itself is concentration.

Could we consolidate several of the smaller schools, it might be possible to save money enough to pay our expert teachers a salary more in proportion to their worth, and at the same time give the scholars as great or even greater advantages as under the present regime. Whatever course is pursued, the rights of every child to attend school must be held sacred.

This consolidation of schools involves the vexing question of transportation, but on the other hand, it would obviate one almost as vexing, that of scholars attending school out of their own district. There is a marked tendency on the part of students to get into the schools in the center of the town, thus inflicting injustice upon a few teachers.

I suggest that No. 19 be permanently discontinued. There are only (12) pupils, and the distance to the near schoolhouses is not greater than many scholars walk in their home districts. Schools Nos. 7, 8 and 9 could profit.
ably be consolidated as there are less than twenty pupils in the three schools.

The decrease in number in No. 14, Beechland, is marked, partly because they persist in coming up town to attend school. The remaining scholars, as well as those of Water street, could be accommodated at the Pine street school, by adding one assistant to the present corps of teachers.

There is always a wail of discontent when any school is discontinued, but there are other advantages in combining the schools than the financial one. At present we find many instances with only one pupil, possibly two, in a class. Experience proves the students have livelier interest and keener ambition when stimulated by the natural competition of being in a large class of their own grade, and receive great benefit from listening to the recitation.

I would like to urge that music be introduced into our schools. A recent writer says: "It is a wise step when an elementary course of vocal music is added to the course of study. It will save the teacher much loss of energy in controlling the school, and will give the children something of permanent value. The ability to sing the best of the patriotic and national songs, and many of the familiar folk and plantation songs should be the heritage of the young people when they go out from the schools."

It would be a real uplift if the parents would oftener visit the schools and keep in touch with the progress made in the daily studies.

I recommend the appropriation for the common school fund be $1,500, for the coming year, providing we receive the same amount from the State as the past year. While the total expenditures for the year just closing only amount to $7,753.08, it is a most unusual thing for them not to exceed $8,000.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The spring term opened with four teachers, Mr. Ward, principal; Mr. Ellsworth, Miss Foster and Miss Emery, assistants. Three weeks before graduation Miss Foster resigned and the remaining three teachers volunteered to assume her classes and successfully completed the prescribed work for the term. I gratefully recognize their generosity in taking upon themselves this extra work.

You were fortunate in being able to retain Mr. Ward as principal, and Mr. Ellsworth as first assistant. Miss Emery having accepted a more lucrative position, you secured the services of Miss Mabelle Brown, of Fairfield, Me., who came very highly recommended.

After carefully considering the subject, you decided to employ only three teachers, increasing the salary of the two assistants. This meant constant, hard work for them, but the plan seemed to be working satisfactorily. There has been steady progress in many ways. With the present excellent staff of teachers, a student with only modest ability or ambition has admirable advantages and opportunity for advancement.
The school has been restored to admission by certificate to the New England colleges. There have been slight changes in the course of study with the approval of State Supt. Payson Smith. The recitation rooms have received the much needed chairs. The laboratory equipment, though meagre, has been sufficiently increased to meet the minimum requirements of the State law.

In October the school was visited by the State Inspector of High schools, Mr. Taylor, who expressed regret at the building and incomplete laboratory, also expressed satisfaction with the results accomplished and with the competent teachers.

Our high school must lead both college ward and life ward. The boy or girl for whom the college door never lowers swings, must be provided for as well as the pupil who may be able to continue his education. It is stated only 10 per cent. of the scholars who graduate from the high school ever enter college, and vocational training seems to be the hand writing on the wall. There is a strong sentiment in this community in favor of introducing stenography, type-writing and other practical studies into the curricu-lum. This would necessitate another teacher and considerable expense for equipment, but we have suitable recitation room to spare and the advocates of this course urge that it would appeal to the smaller surrounding towns and the tuition paid would at least equal the extra expense involved. To my mind it would be a judicious measure.

I recommend the same appropriation as last year.

I am glad of this opportunity to thank you, gentlemen of the school board, for your unvarying kindness, courtesy and cordial support throughout the year. The work has been a pleasure, even though each succeeding year seems to make greater demands upon the superintendent's time, and the interest deepens as the possibilities of school work unfold. I am also glad to express my thanks and appreciation to the members of the city government for many favors, and to the teachers for their sympathetic co-op-eration.

Respectfully submitted,
CLARA OSGOOD HOPKINS,
Superintendent.

February 13, 1911.

Note: The high school has not as yet received any of the five hundred dollars due from the State fund, which should have been credited to this year.
