D. S. SPRINGER, Treasurer.

Litchfield, February 20, 1890.
To the Citizens of Litchfield:

Your Auditor having made a careful examination of the Selectmen's and Treasurer's Books, would respectfully submit the following report. I find the books neatly and properly kept, accurately cast, and they exactly agree.

I found itemized bills in the hands of the Selectmen for every order drawn.

Orders on file in the hands of the Treasurer exactly corresponded with the sums charged as paid out by him.

The Treasurer's accounts show that he had cash

Condition of Schools.

Litchfield Corner District.

Care of house. E. N. Baker.

Summer Term. Miss Martha E. Bernard, teacher. Whole number attending, 25; average number, 22; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $6.00 per week.

Miss Payne is a teacher of experience, having previously taught thirty-nine terms, this enabled her to adopt methods of teaching, best calculated to interest as well as to instruct her pupils. At our first visit, we found the teacher manifesting a deep interest in the welfare of her pupils, and they were orderly and attentive to their studies, thus appreciating the efforts of the teacher in their behalf. The closing examination showed that they had been benefited by the instruction given, that much hard work had been accomplished on the part of the scholar, and the term had been one of profit to the district.

Winter Term. George M. Rogers, teacher. Whole number attending, 25; average number, 21; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $7.50 per week.

The appearance of this school at the commencement of the term, was such that we predicted success, and at the closing examination we were not very disappointed. Classes in Arithmetic had received good instruction, and pupils understood well, and analyzed clearly problems given them under the principles covered during the term. The other classes did excellent work.

South Oak Hill District.

Care of house. Dexter W. Danforth.

No Summer Term.

Winter Term. Emmer E. Bosworth, teacher. Whole number attending, 9; average number, 8; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $5.50 per week.

This was Mr. Bosworth's first attempt at teaching, and we were convinced at our first visit that he was sparing no pains to make his labors successful; his manner in the school-room was pleasant, and his teaching was of the right kind, and though the scholars are somewhat backward in their studies, and do not grasp at ideas so readily as we wish they might, yet the general appearance of the school warrants us to warrant a fair amount of improvement, should the scholars evince a desire to make the best use of their time. At our second visit the same degree of interest was manifested on the part of the teacher, and the examination of the several classes showed that a fair amount of advancement had been made, by a majority of the scholars; a few however were a little careless and indifferent and if they did not make that improvement desirable they have no one to blame but themselves.

Waterman District.

Care of house. Josiah Jones.

Summer Term. Miss Mabel E. Norcross, teacher. Whole number attending, 20; average number, 18; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $5.00 per week.

Miss Norcross is a good scholar and has a very good faculty of imparting instruction to her pupils. Having had some previous experience in the schoolroom. She readily adapted herself to the wants of her pupils. Firm in discipline, but not arbitrary, yet if necessity requires it, is able to reduce to submission the wilfully disobedient and unruly. At the opening of the term we found perfect union existing between teacher and scholar, classes well arranged, scholars interested in their studies, and receiving good instruction. The examination at the close of the term was very satisfactory, all of the classes did well and we were well satisfied with the amount of work done. One class in oral history is the best we think in town, and deserves special mention. The order was good. Scholars not absent one-half day: Gracie Elliot, Lena M. Allard, Ethel L. Allard, Edna Sprague, Lulu E. Weymouth, Alice E. Payne, Maud P. Bates, Alice Wyman, Joseph L. Gowell.

Winter Term. Same teacher. Whole number attending, 24;
average number, 21; length of term, 11 weeks; wages of teacher,
$5.50 per week.

The success attending the efforts of Miss Norcross during the summer term, was so marked, that we thought it advisable to retain her services for the winter term, and she entered upon her work with every prospect of success. On account of sickness, nearly half of the pupils were absent at the closing examination, but enough were present however to show that they had been well instructed, and that marked progress had been made during the year.

Grant District.

Care of house. A. E. Googins.

Summer Term. Miss Mertie A. Cunningham, teacher. Whole number attending, 11; average number, 9; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $5.00 per week.

This school is made up of good, honest, industrious workers, and Miss Cunningham by her pleasant manners in the schoolroom easily won the confidence and respect of her pupils and working together much good was accomplished. The same degree of interest was apparent between teacher and pupils at the closing visit as at the first and the final results were very satisfactory.

Scholars not absent one-half day: Mertie B. Howard, Edith W. Otis.

Winter Term. Same teacher. Whole number attending, 11;
average number, 9; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher,
$5.50 per week.
Miss Cunningham discharged her duties throughout this term with that same degree of interest so manifest during the preceding one. Marked advance had been made in reading, arithmetic and geography. A class of two in analysis, history and physiology did finely, especially so in the latter study. We doubt whether any two pupils in town could do better. The order in the school was perfect.

Scholars not absent one-half day.—Edith Otis.

True District.

Care of house. E. N. Pinkham.

Summer Term. Miss Bertha L. Gay, Gardiner, teacher. Whole number attending, 23; average number, 20; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $6 per week.

Miss Gay is a graduate of the Gardiner High School and was well qualified, as far as acquired abilities are concerned, to discharge the duties assigned her, and she entered upon her work here with a determination, no doubt, to discharge them faithfully. At the first visit the appearance of the school seemed to indicate success, with the exception of a lack of system in the order of recitations, if not changed, would in our opinion detract somewhat from the general success of the school. Had the suggestion by us at the time in regard to this been heeded, the final results, we think, would have been more satisfactory. The order was good, and a fair-amount of improvement was made among the larger and more advanced classes.

Winter Term. Mr. Varney, teacher. Whole number attending, 23; average number, 21 1/2; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $7 per week.

This is one of the largest, and in many respects the best school in town, made up of a class of pupils noted for good deportment and uniform respect shown their teachers. We also find here some of our most advanced scholars, requiring a teacher of more than ordinary acquired ability. Mr. Varney has good executive ability, and pupils under his care receive good instruction and thorough drill. The closing examination showed marked advancement in all of the classes. We think this was a profitable term of school and Mr. Varney a faithful and efficient teacher.

Scholars not absent one-half day.—Sadie Tucker, Roscoe E. Pinkham, Ned D. True, Harry L. Pinkham, Lewis P. True, George Tucker.
Berry District.

Care of house. Melvin Tibbette.

Summer Term. Miss Melville Snow, teacher. Whole number attending, 11; average number, 10; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher. $5.50 per week.

Miss Snow had previously taught four terms, so she commenced her labors with experience. At our first visit, we found a neat and tidy schoolroom, the teacher active and evidently desirous of making her school both interesting and profitable. At the closing examination the general appearance of the school was good, the scholars were giving close attention to their studies. It was evident that the teacher had secured the hearty cooperation of her pupils, and there was a commendable amount of advancement made in the several classes, especially in Analysis, History and Physiology. We find in this school one of our best scholars, and we hope that in the near future she will be ranked among our best teachers as well as scholars.

Scholars not absent one-half day.—Radie Hodgkins, Elmer Hodgkins, Edith F. Robinson, Lorenzo D. Small.

Winter Term. Ara Libby, teacher. Whole number attending, 15; average number, 13; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $7 per week.

Mr. Libby is a student at Bates College, and came to his work here with an education sufficient to give his pupils good instruction, but without experience as a teacher. At our first visit, we saw nothing to prevent this from being a pleasant and profitable term of school, unless an apparent diffidence on the part of the teacher, if not overcome, might be taken advantage of by some of the pupils and lessen somewhat the interest in the school. The examination at the close of the term convinced us that had the teacher been more decided in the matter of discipline, the final results would have been more gratifying; however, a fair amount of improvement had been made. Most of the pupils had been attentive to their studies and gained much valuable information. Mr. Libby, with experience and more firmness in discipline, will, we think, make a good teacher.

Scholars not absent one-half day.—Ernest T. Small, Lorenzo D. Small, Frances E. Robinson.

Stevenstown District.

Care of house. Charles A. Edgecomb.

Summer Term. Miss Kate E. Motors, teacher. Whole number attending, 13; average number, 11; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $5.

Miss Nickerson was patient and persevering in the discharge of her duties in this school. With her quiet way and pleasant manner in the schoolroom, she soon gained the good will of her pupils. This continuing throughout the term, we are pleased to report at the closing examination that a good amount of work had been performed and the united efforts of teacher and scholar had been crowned with success.

Scholars not absent one-half day.—Jennie Gowell, Addie F. Gowell, Ethel A. Small.

Winter Term. Same teacher. Whole number attending, 16; average number, 13; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $5.50 per week.

Miss Nickerson continued her work during this term of school with the same degree of earnestness that characterized her efforts in the summer, resulting in a corresponding amount of improvement. Some of the classes in this school needed especial attention, particularly in reading, and Miss Nickerson deserves a compliment for her success in the improvement made. The younger pupils during both terms were not neglected and were taught orally many useful lessons. We are satisfied with the amount of work accomplished in this school during the year.

Earle District.

Care of house. D. S. Springer.

Summer Term. Mrs. Purinton, teacher. Whole number attending, 14; average number, 13; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $4.50 per week.

Mrs. Purinton is a fine scholar and has had previous experience in the schoolroom. She labored earnestly and faithfully to advance the interests of the school and we think she succeeded well. The pupils in this school, at both visits, were studious and were working in harmony with their teacher. Her teaching was thorough, from the elementary sounds of the letters to the deeper and more intricate problems in mathematics. Classes in reading, geography and grammar did exceedingly well. Maps drawn and shown us by the pupils deserve special mention. This, in our opinion, was a good school.

Winter Term. Millard H. Jack, teacher. Whole number attending, 23; average number, 18; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $5.50 per week.
This was Mr. Jack's first school. He possesses the requisite qualifications for a teacher, and with experience, we doubt not, make one of our best instructors. We were well pleased with the appearance of the school at our first visit. Everything seemed to be moving in perfect harmony between teacher and pupils, and we predicted should this pleasant feeling continue, the term would be a successful one. At the closing examination we were not any disappointed in the result. Classes in Arithmetic were well instructed and did honest work, one class in Geography deserves special mention; also classes in Reading and analysis did well. Maps drawn by the pupils displayed much skill. We were well satisfied with Mr. Jack's efforts in this school, and believe the term one of profit to the district.

Scholars not absent one-half day: Hiram Morrill, Charles Williams, Dollie A. Bubier, Jennie A. Jordan, Mamie Morrill, Nettie E. Morrill.

Mills District.

Care of house. Eli Merriman.

Summer Term. Miss Mary Simpson, teacher. Whole number attending, 19; average number, 17; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $5.50 per week.

Miss Simpson is a student in the Farmington Normal School, and has learned many ideas in regard to teaching which greatly aided her in her work here. At our first visit the teacher appeared to be taking a deep interest in her work, and the scholars were quiet and orderly evincing a desire to make the best possible use of their time. The closing visit satisfied us that the classes in the various studies pursued, had been well instructed and the progress made was alike creditable to teacher and scholar.

Scholars not absent one-half day: Elbridge Allen, Thurston Gilman, Flossie Gilman, Anna Gardiner.

Winter Term. John Spear, West Gardiner, teacher. Whole number attending, 24; average number, 22; length of term, 12, weeks; wages of teacher, $8.00 per week.

Mr. Spear is a teacher of large experience, a good disciplinarian, lucid in explanation, careful in his teaching, faithful and honest with his pupils. The closing visit to this school satisfied us that we made no mistake in securing the services of Mr. Spear for this school. We have no hesitancy in reporting this school as regards improvement of the pupils in the various classes, in the general appearance of the school, and in discipline second to none in town.
Scholars not absent one-half day: Elbridge Allen, Allen L. Smith, Eddie E. Spear.

Care of house. Frank Libby.

Summer Term. Miss Flora H. Ayer, teacher. Whole number attending, 11; average number, 10 3-10; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $5.00 per week.

Rarely do we find a teacher entering the schoolroom better equipped for thorough work than Miss Ayer. Ranking high in acquired abilities, and largely endowed with those other qualities that is so essential to general success in school work. Her methods of instruction were good, and her explanations were made so plain as to be easily understood by the young mind of which her school was largely composed, as well as the older and more advanced scholars. Classes formed and taught orally did well and gave evidence of good retentive memories. We were much pleased with this school and believe that the efforts of the teacher were well appreciated by parents and pupils.

Scholars not absent one-half day: Angie Bosworth, Nellie M. Ham, Jesse May Libby, Frank Adams, Arthur Niles, Abraham Bartlett, George Potter.

Winter Term. Mrs. Addie M. Baker, teacher. Whole number attending, 13; average number, 10; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $5.50 per week.

Mrs. Baker has succeeded well in this school in the past, and knew just what kind of teaching was necessary to bring about the best results. Her teaching was plain and interested her pupils. Mrs. Baker does good work in the schoolroom, and the result of her labors here was worthy of commendation.

Scholars not absent one-half day: Frank Adams.

North Oak Hill District.

Care of house. Charles T. Frost.

Summer Term. Mrs. Addie Baker, teacher. Whole number attending, 17; average number, 14; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $4.50 per week.

Mrs. Baker succeeded well in this school. Her former success as a teacher in town, her faculty of interesting her pupils and winning their love and respect goes far towards making her labors appreciative and affective. The results of her work here was satisfactory to us and we doubt not to the entire district.

Scholars not absent one-half day: Eva Thornton.
Winter term. Emery Baker, teacher. Whole number attending, 6; average number, 4; length of term 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $5.50 per week.

Mr. Baker entered upon his work here with some experience as a teacher, and at the commencement of the term seemed to be interested in his labors, but in a school numbering only six pupils, with an average of four, both teacher and pupil necessarily labor to a great disadvantage, thus lessening greatly the value of the term; however under these circumstances a fair amount of progress was noticeable, especially in the reading classes which did remarkably well; other classes were not neglected and were taught orally many things that will be of value to them in the future.

Farrin District.

Care of house. George N. Thurlow.

Summer term. Miss Edith Stewart, teacher. Whole number attending, 14; average number, 13; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $4.50 per week.

This school is one that requires on the part of the teacher a great deal of patience in teaching and much firmness in discipline, consequently Miss Stewart was assigned to this school, believing that she possessed enough of the above named qualifications to enable her to make the term of school one of profit to the district and we are pleased to report that she did her work well. The scholars had been well taught and showed their respect for the teacher by being quiet and orderly in the school room and commendable progress was apparent in all the studies pursued. We think Miss Stewart succeeds well as a teacher.

Winter Term. Mr. Tarr, teacher. Whole number attending, 9; average number, 7 1-4; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $6.50 per week.

Mr. Tarr had no previous experience as a teacher, yet he took hold of his work with a great deal of interest and succeeded in awakening a deep interest in his pupils. At the close of the term they were enabled to satisfy us that they had been interested in their studies and had been well taught, that the teacher had not been unmindful of his duties and that a good amount of valuable work had been performed. We are satisfied that this was a profitable term.

Cook District.

Care of house. M. S. H. Rogers.

Summer Term. Fannie W. True, teacher. Whole number attending, 29; average number, 26; length of term, 40 days; wages of teacher, $6 per week.

Miss True's reputation as a successful teacher is well known. Being a good scholar, faithful and diligent in the discharge of her duties, and understanding well what is required of a teacher, she could not fail to make the term successful. At the close of the term, the pupils passed a very satisfactory examination in all the studies pursued, and a marked improvement was manifest, assuring us that Miss True taught a good school.

Winter Term. M. E. teacher. Whole number attending, 28; average number, 26; length of term, 12 weeks; wages of teacher, $6.25 per week.

Miss Payne's success as a teacher is too well known to require any words of commendation from us, always appearing at home in the schoolroom, ever strong to stimulate a desire for study in her pupils. This is the largest school in town, and in some respects the most difficult to manage, as a large majority of the pupils have arrived at that period in life when it becomes necessary for them to understand and appreciate the value of an education; and we are of the opinion that the condition of this school demands teachers of experience and reputation as good disciplinarians.

In closing our report of the condition of the schools in town for the past year, it may be necessary for us to make a few brief statements and suggestions. When we assumed the duties of the office, we had no other object in view than to discharge them according to the best of our ability; to judiciously expend the amount of money placed at our disposal, by the employment and assignment of teachers for schools that in our opinion were best calculated to produce the best results. That all of our schools in town have, during the year, been first class, it may be too much to concede, but there have been no failures, although a few of them have not come quite up to that standard of excellence so much desired. Our teachers as a whole have been zealous and conscientious in discharging their duties, having a strict regard for the rights of the pupils, and as far as we are able to judge, have received the co-operation of the parents.

The attendance during the year has been good, and in looking over the Registers returned, we find that many of the schools have been frequently visited by the parents and others interested in school work. This we believe to be a duty you owe your children; a duty you owe the cause of education and the future well-being of society. It is also your duty to see that your children are in the schoolroom every day the school is in session unless prevented by sickness, and never encourage them, (whether your own children or others placed under your care,) in that dishonest practice of deserting the schoolroom the last week or ten days of the term, in idling away their time in the chimney corner, through fear of having their indolence and want of learning exposed at the examinations. We do not pretend that such pupils necessarily grow up vicious in life, but they generally prove unreliable and untrustworthy citizens.

The condition of our schoolhouses will claim your attention at our next annual meeting. While most of them are in very good repair, requiring only the usual yearly outlay of money, a few, however, are in a sadly dilapidated condition. We refer to districts No. 1, (Litchfield Corner,) No. 10, (Earle,) No. 14, (Farrin.) We would not advise the building of new ones in the two latter districts for we believe there is enough unexpended money, now in the treasury, amply sufficient, if judiciously expended, to sufficiently repair the old ones. In regard to the one at Litchfield Corner, we cannot make any change in what has been said by my predecessors in office, as to its condition. That they need a new schoolhouse, every one will admit, and the sum of $800 carefully expended will, we think, erect a building suitable for the evidently pressing needs of this district.

The question of text books will also claim your attention. All, or nearly all of the books now used in our schools, have been in use a number of years, we think, past the legal limit of their introduction, and in our opinion a change should be made. As the various matters relating to our school will call for a decision from you at an early day, we leave them with you, hoping that you will give them that consideration their importance demands.

In conclusion we will say that money spent for schools is well invested. It raises the standard of intelligence of the citizen, and no better advertisement is needed for a town than that it liberally supports its schools.

Respectfully submitted,
M. S. H. ROGERS, Supervisor.
