REPORT OF AUDITOR

I have examined the books of the Selectmen and Treasurer, and other town officers having the expenditure of money, and find them correct and all payments accompanied by proper vouchers.

H. G. Smallidge,
Auditor.
To the Members of the Superintending School Committee and the Citizens of Winter Harbor:

I have the pleasure of submitting my second annual report of the conditions of our schools and of the work done during the past year. We have striven to bring the schools not only to a higher standard of efficiency, but also to find the weak points in the system.

In a well-regulated school system there should be definite progress from year to year, and from grade to grade. That is, there should be a continuous line of upward growth from the first grade to the high school. One of the greatest weaknesses of the Winter Harbor system has been too many places either above or below the normal line of progress.
has been our problem for the year to find these places by observation and conferences with teachers, and then to make conscious effort to remedy the condition. One of the best measures of the success of teaching is the number of pupils who are repeating the work of any grade. Of course, this assumes that the work of the grade is not too difficult for that age; in other words, that the course of study is adapted to the child's ability.

During the present school year the per cent of repeaters is 3.9%. This is low and can be made lower by individual promotion of pupils when they are capable of doing the work, by semi-annual promotion and attention to individual differences in pupil. When we consider that two years ago 20% of the pupils were repeating the work, and in previous years a higher per cent, we may rest assured that progress is being made.

Plan for Regrading Schools

It is probable that our high school room will be crowded during the coming school year, as there are but three in the graduating class, and we hope to have at least fifteen in the entering class. Also, there seems to be a gap between the present course of study in the grades and the course of study in the high school. This has been true in nearly every town in the State. During the past two years I have watched the work of the junior high school and I am convinced that it is a solution of our problem. By adopting this course, we will begin English work in the seventh grade, relegating technical grammar to the high school, where it properly belongs.

We could also begin the study of foreign languages in the seventh grade, where it has been proven to be more easily passed by the pupil. This change would not call for the expenditure of more money, but could be carried out with the same amount of school money that was raised last year.

Course of Study

By special conferences with teachers, and careful attention to the work of the past two years, we are able to crystalize a course of study for our schools that will meet our needs.

With the introduction of the Six-Three-Three plan it is necessary to crowd and enrich the elementary course up to the end of the sixth grade. To this end we have given our attention. There must be a very definite piece of work accomplished in each of the grades in each of the fundamental subjects and a richer material in reading, geography and history for the grades. It is our plan to have this course ready for the opening of the new school year. It will be familiar to the teachers as they have been working it out for the past two years.

High School

We considered ourselves very fortunate to secure the services of Mr. and Mrs. Karl D. Lee as instructors in our high school for the year. In the short time Mrs. Lee was with us, she endeared herself to the pupils, and I am sure her memory will exert a healthful influence on all the boys and girls that came in touch with her personality. Miss Cox has carried on her work in a satisfactory manner. The entering class of twenty is the largest in the history of the school.

More reference books are needed in the library in order to do standard work in the English department. I would recommend that a special appropriation be raised for that purpose.
Text-Books

During the past year we have paid from two to four times as much as formerly for supplies and paper for the schools. That is, it takes $3.00 now to buy what $1.00 would pay for two years ago. The text-book publishers have also announced an increase in price of 25%. While I have kept within the appropriation this year, it would be impossible to do so another year, as prices are steadily increasing. In closing, I wish to thank the school board, teachers and citizens of the town for their splendid support and co-operation. I wish to assure you of my best services for the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

R. L. Sinclair,

Winter Harbor, Me., Feb. 9, 1917.
