1. Far be-yond the ci - ty, with its strife and all its care,
2. As I gen - tly lis - tened to its mes - sage soft and sweet,

In a pleas - ant val - ley where the flow - ers bloom so fair,
Peo - ple go - ing churchward filled the lit - tle vil - lage street,

Once a - gain I wan - dered, just at sun - set's gold - en glow,
All the ones I knew and loved in boy - hood's hap - py day,

Back a-mong the scenes of long a - go. It was Sun-day eve-ning and as Ere I left to roam so far a - way. There was dear old moth-er with her twi-light soft-ly fell, Came to me the mes-sage of the dear old vil-lage bell, time-worn sil-vered hair, Fa-ther, too, and Ma-ry, sweet-heart, ten der, young and fair,

And it soothed my sor-rows with its ten-der sweet re-frain,
 And they came to greet me, while their glad tears soft-ly fell,

Brought me back to child-hood days a - gain.
 As I lis-tened to the old church bell.
