Separated Materials

The Record Series "Presidential Subject Records" and "President Records" are together in one finding aid. The Record Series "Director Of Athletics" is in a separate finding aid. Although the Director of Athletics organizationally sits in the President's Office the processing archivist felt researchers would expect to see a separate finding aid for athletic records.

For digital preservation purposes media items such as cassette and audiotapes and Compact Discs have been transferred to the office of Richard Hollinger. Notes regarding the transfers can be found in a "Separated Materials" note for the specific folders that the media has been transferred from.

Presidential Subject Records, 1865-2000, (1934-1984)

Physical Description: 182 boxes

Language of the Material: English.

Arrangement

Series broken down into subseries: 1. Subject Files, 2. Correspondence & 3. Administrative Files. Physically the folders are generally arranged alphabetically by file title.

Scope and Contents

These records contain documents on a range of subjects that were compiled by University of Maine presidents, acting presidents, interim presidents, and their staff. The bulk of the material is from the University of Maine presidential tenures of Arthur Andrew Hauck, Lloyd Hartman Elliot, Hugh Edwin Young, Winthrop C. Libby, Howard R. Neville, and Paul H. Silverman. However, there are documents starting from the tenure of Merrit Caldwell Fernald as acting University of Maine president through to President Frederick E. Hutchinson. The records provide an overview of the many aspects of University of Maine operations that the presidents are involved in.

The records are a snapshot of a particular subject from the president's perspective and are likely not a comprehensive record of the subject. The majority of the records contain material from multiple presidential tenures. For some subjects there are multiple folders and duplication of material.

The Subject Files contain documents related to University of Maine department operations and those of third party individuals and organizations.

The Correspondence files contain presidential correspondence and correspondence the presidents were copied on. This series features correspondence from people who may have contacted the presidents only once or twice (that is, not enough for a separate name file to be established).

The Administrative Files contain documents that relate to administrative functions such as management of the University of Maine's facilities, finances, and personnel, includes: personnel records (including of presidents), contracts and agreements, legal actions, property management, housing, human resources, various University of Maine committee, council, board and task force meetings, grant funding, insurance, student enrollment, funding support, tuition, admissions, transfer, and issues, taxation, employee recruitment, tenure, benefits, worker's compensation, payroll, salary, vacation, and holidays, calendars, equipment management, policies and procedures, complaints and grievances, records management, department year end reports, budget reports, space management, vehicle management, insurance, president schedules and calendars, strategic planning, establishment and reorganization of departments and campuses, and procurement.

Accruals:

Accruals

Accruals for past presidents are not anticipated. However, accruals are expected for current and future presidents.

Subject Files, 1870-2000

Records Of President Abram Winegardner Harris [Term 1893-1901], 1889-1954, (1893-1901)

Physical Description: 1 box

Physical Description: 11 Folders

Language of the Material: English.

Biographical / Historical

Dr. Abram Winegarden Harris was president of the Maine State College of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts from September 1893 to December 1901. Harris was a graduate of Wesleyan, Bowdoin and New Brunswick. It was in 1897, during the presidency of Abram Harris, that the former Maine State College of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts was renamed the University of Maine. For the first time, the Maine Legislature assigned a fixed annual appropriation to the school and affirmed the right of the Board of Trustees to expand course offerings to include classics and professional programs. Enrollment increased from about 140 students to more than 400 and faculty grew from 24 to 54, reflecting new offerings in electrical engineering, pharmacy, law and pre-medicine. Harris oversaw the construction of Alumni Hall, as well as the remodeling of a former farm building into Mt. Vernon, the first women's dorm on campus, which later burned. In addition, Harris led an initiative to plan new roads and walkways, and to plant nearly 2,500 trees and shrubs on the expanding campus. Harris died in Manset, Mt. Desert Island in 1935 at the age of 76.

Scope and Contents

These records document Abram Winegarden Harris' tenure as president of the Maine State College of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts, which later become the University of Maine, from September 1893 to December 1901. The majority of the series is correspondence to and from Harris on a range of subjects including: war enlistments of students, advertising and magazine renewals, engineering experiment substations, the Free Homestead Bill, establishing a forestry school, moral behavior of students, tax exemption, the place of women and religion at the University, admissions, college expenses, correspondence with the publisher W.R. Farrington, various individuals and businesses with the name Fernald including faculty, regarding fraternity housing, agriculture education, and regarding the Maine State Legislature. There is also a folder of correspondence featuring Harris' secretary E.A. Balentine and a folder containing signed letters from various academics, politicians, judges, and local figures. There is a letter to Harris from Booker T. Washington regarding the need for "colored teachers in industrial and agriculture departments" at the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute.

Also, includes biographical information on Harris from his appointment (1893) to resignation (1901).

Box 1 includes note stating that the photographs have been transferred to University Photo Archives.

George Emory Fellows was born June 9, 1858 at Beaver Dam, Wisconsin. Fellows expanded training and education at the University of Maine in the fields of agriculture, home economics and education. Clarence C. Little Papers, SpC MS 0300 which include records on University of Maine President Clarence Cook Little's correspondence, manuscripts of writings, reprints of publications, periodicals, scrapbooks, and other papers relating to Little's career as a biologist and educator, his family, his second wife, Beatrice Johnson Little, Jackson Memorial Laboratory which he directed, cancer research, tobacco industry, genetics, college and universities.

Biographical / Historical

Clarence Cook Little was a Harvard-trained scientist and researcher who went on to found the prestigious Jackson Laboratory in Bar Harbor, is credited with elevating the status of liberal studies at the University of Maine and obtaining the funding to build Stevens Hall, and the Memorial Gym and Field House. During his administration, a Phi Beta Kappa chapter was established on campus. He appointed the university's first dean of graduate study and its first dean of women. Under his leadership, UMaine was among the first institutions in the nation to pioneer "Freshman Week" — a planned orientation for first-year students that now is standard at schools across the nation. Little went head-to-head with the Maine legislature in an attempt to raise the university's standing in legislative funding priorities, supporting a property tax system that would automatically direct funding each year to the university instead of relying on year-by-year appropriations. Maine adopted the mill tax system after Little moved on from UMaine in 1925 to accept the presidency of the University of Michigan. In 1929, Little returned to Maine to found the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory in Bar Harbor, now The Jackson Laboratory. Little was also the president of the Maine Library Association from 1936 to 1937. In 1952, he was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship. In 1954, he became the director of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee. Little, who completed undergraduate and graduate degrees at Harvard University, died in 1971 at the age of 83. Clarence Cook Little Hall, dedicated in 1965, is named in his honor.

Biographical / Historical

In 2011, Dr. Ferguson was appointed the 19th President of the University of Maine. As President, Dr. Ferguson led a strategic planning process known as the Blue Sky Project promoting student success and community engagement. The Blue Sky Project succeeded quickly as an inclusive, creative, and integrated approach to campus planning and implementation with Pathways to realistic growth and financial sustainability.

The University enjoyed unprecedented success in undergraduate student recruitment, retention, and graduation rates. Renewal of the physical plant occurred through the campus-wide Paint, Polish, and Plant Initiative in addition to major facility construction/renovations that included: Memorial Gym and Field House, Estabrooke Hall, Emera Astronomy Center and Stewart Commons, housing the Wyeth Family Studio Art Center with the Art Department's studio and creative lab space, and the Innovative Media Research and Commercialization (IMRC) Center, with dedicated facilities for the New Media Department. Continued success occurred in faculty-driven research and economic development, especially in transformational National Science Foundation EPSCoR funding for the Sustainability Solutions Initiative and Aquaculture; biofuels derived from woody biomass; and launch of VolturnUS, the first grid-connected offshore wind turbine to be deployed off the coast of North America in partnership with the Department of Energy and diverse corporate partners. Increased success was demonstrated in philanthropy and giving to UMaine by the highest total endowment to date ($252 M) and greatest number of new first time donors in 2013 (2,000 giving $2.7M). The University of Maine remained highly ranked as a Tier 1 university of choice by U.S. News and World Report, Forbes Magazine, Princeton Review, and Fiske Guide.

A Southern California native, President Ferguson was a Whittier College graduate who earned a Ph.D. in Pharmacology and Toxicology at the University of California, Davis in 1981. As an accomplished health scientist with a 30-year record of scholarship and an award-winning professor in the fields of toxicology and public health. President Ferguson rose through the academic ranks, leading research and outreach efforts in four states to assess and reduce potential health risks from chemical exposures. During this time, Dr. Ferguson also worked as a senior toxicologist for Unocal Corporation, a Los Angeles-based international energy resources company. Beginning in 1993, Dr. Ferguson progressed through higher ranks of academic administration, initially serving as Vice Provost and Dean of Graduate Studies and Research at the University of Louisiana, Monroe. At the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, he was Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies. Prior to joining the University of Maine, Dr. Ferguson was at the Edwardsville campus of Southern Illinois University, where he was Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs.

Biographical / Historical

Football first officially started as varsity sport at the University of Maine (then known as the Maine State College) in 1892 (versus Colby College). From 1892-1900 Maine posted a 10-28 record with one tie. In 1896, Jack Abbott became the first full-time coach.

From 1893-1946 the team played in the Maine Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The 1901 to 1920 period saw the introduction of "Bananas" the mascot- a brown bear and the hiring of Jack Farley as coach. Fred Brice coached the University of Maine between 1921 and 1940 during which time the team won seven State Series titles, New England titles in 1925, 1927, and 1928 and shared one in 1926. From 1931 to 1934 the University of Maine won 12 straight State Series games. A star player from the 1927 season was James Buzzell who received recognition by Who's Who in American Sports. In 1937 Wally Gleason and Frank Smith earned All-American honorable mention; Gleason was also selected to play in college shrine game.

Between 1941 and 1950 the team's record was 26 wins, 28 losses and four ties. Jack Zollo was the star player during this period and in 1947 was named to the All-American team. Between 1947 and 1996 the team played in the Yankee Conference and won Conference titles in 1949, 1951, 1952, 1961, 1965, 1974, 1982, 1987, and 1989. Under head coach Hal Westerman (1951-1966) the team won 80 (including 15 straight winning records), lost 38, and tied seven. The 1951 and 1961 teams were undefeated and the 1965 team went to the Tangerine Bowl and won the Lambert Cup, and John Huard was selected to Little All-America. This era also marked the end of the State Series with Bates and Bowdoin leaving in the 1964 season and Colby leaving in 1966.

From 1997-2006 the team played in the Atlantic 10 Conference. Maine won the Conference title in 2001 and 2002. Since 2007 Maine have played in the Colonial Athletic Association; in 2013 Maine won the Conference title under head coach Jack Cosgrove.

Since 1998 Maine have played at Morse Field at the Alford Sports Stadium.

Biographical / Historical

The first official University of Maine men's basketball team was in the 1904-1905 season and the team had a 7-9 record. After five winning seasons, the sport was dropped at the end of the 1909-1910 season because of a lack of gymnasium space. The basketball team resumed in 1919 as a varsity sport, but was again dropped from 1929 to 1935. The team was considered in 1935 and adopted in 1936. The newly constructed Memorial Gymnasium was the team's home from 1935 to 1989, before some games started to be played at the Bangor Auditorium (since 2013 known as the Cross Insurance Center).

In 1958, Maine appointed Brian McCall as the first full time coach of basketball. McCall coached the team to a Maine record 15 wins in 22 games in the 1958-1959 season. McCall had a win record of 19-4 in the 1959-1960 season (including an opening 13 game winning streak) which saw Maine win the state series and ranked sixth nationally for small colleges. The team had an 18-5 win record in the 1960-1961 season. In this period McCall had 52 wins in 68 games. Guards Tom "Skip" Chappelle and Wayne Champeon, center John Ingalls, and forwards Don Sturgeon and Larry Schiner were some of the star player during this golden period of University of Maine basketball. Chappelle was Yankee Conference scoring champion and selected to 1st team all-Yankee Conference; Larry Schiner was selected to the 2nd team. In the 1960-1961 season, Tom Chappelle was selected to the 1st team All-New England.

Maine won the state championship in 1966-1967; Terry Carr scored more than 1,000 career points. In 1968-1969, Jim Stephenson was selected for New England Hall of Fame game; the team placed 20th nationally with 85.6 points/game and 5th in rebounding. Stephenson and Hugh Campbell were named to the all-Yankee Conference team. McCall coached until 1968 when he resigned to become an assistant to Athletic Director Hal Westerman. In 1969, he became Athletic Director of the Catholic University of America in Washington D.C.

In 1971-1972, the team won the state series championship and had the third best record in New England. In 1972-1973, Peter Gavett was selected on 2nd team all-New England and 2nd team District 1 Division by National Association of Basketball Coaches; Bob Warner was selected as rookie of the year by Yankee Conference Coaches. In 1973-1974, Bob Warner was top rebounder and 2nd top scorer in Yankee Conference. In 1974, the team won the state series; Bob Warner was selected by NCAA coaches to the University Division 1 team and was 10th in rebounding. In 1975, Bob Warner was selected to 1st team All-Yankee Conference and received honorable mention as All-American and Paul Wholey was selected to 1st team all-Yankee Conference. In 1976, Bob Warner became the top University of Maine scorer of all time and was selected to 2nd team All-Yankee Conference.

Since 1979 the University of Maine has competed in the America East Conference.

Also, includes guides for NCAA tournaments and copies of the book "Playing Like a Girl Cindy Blodgett" (1994) by Tabitha King, Friends of Women's Basketball "Hoops" newsletters, and yearbooks.

Biographical / Historical

The University of Maine women's basketball team was established in 1920 under coach James Baldwin and played its first recorded game in 1921.

The team went on to have an undefeated season in 1923-1924 with a record of 2-0 under coach Stanley Wallace. Helen Lengyel took over the basketball program for the 1924-1945 season, but in 1931 women's intercollegiate basketball was discontinued along with each of the four women's sports programs in existence, in favor of interclass competition.

Women's basketball returned for the 1970-1971 season, but the basketball program wasn't resurrected until the fall of 1975 as an officially funded sport by the University. Eilene Fox became coach in 1975 and at the end of the season Maine competed in the Maine Association of Intercollegiate Athletic for Women (MAIAW) tournament. Under Fox Maine won 6 MAIAW championships and 2 EIAIW tournaments.

In the 1983-1984 season under Fox's successor Peter Gavett Maine set University and NCAA Division I records. In the 1984-1985 season Maine became a member of the newly formed Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference. In the 1989-1990 season Maine entered a new conference, the North Atlantic Conference.

Maine were America East Conference champions every season between 1987 and 1999. From 1994 to 1999 Maine had their most successful spell, featuring standout player Cindy Blodgett, who went on to play in the Women's National Basketball Association, and later became the head coach of the Maine's women team (2007-2011). In the 1998-1999 season the team became the first Maine team to advance beyond the first round of the NCAA tournament. The Black Bears won 24 of 31 games, including the America East regular season. In total the team have been champions on 13 occasions.

In 1992, Maine played their first game in the newly expanded Alford Arena. Maine now play the majority of their games at the Bangor Auditorium (since 2013 known as the Cross Insurance Center).

The Friends of Women's Basketball was initiated by Coach Joanne Palombo-McCallie in 1992-93. The first President was Maria Baeza, Vice President Mindy Ward and Treasurer Ray Adams. A newsletter "Hoops" was initiated in 1995 and the editor was Becky Caron. The "Hoops" was published about four times a year and continued for 20 years until the last issue in May 2016.

The purpose of the Friends Group was to bring community/fan support to the team by various fundraisers and events. Including: Fall barbeques to introduce the new team members, bus trips to away games, chalk talks to help fans understand the game, annual wine and cheese receptions, post-game receptions after home games, post-season banquets to announce awards, and annual golf tournaments. Over the years the Friends raised thousands of dollars to support the team and their budget.

Biographical / Historical

Men's Outdoor Track: The first University of Maine (then the Maine State College) men's outdoor track team was in 1894, with the first intercollegiate meet in 1895 in Waterville and the first coach appointed in 1897 (Dr. W.S. Cummings). In 1898, track became a varsity sport permanently under Cumming's successor John "Jack" Moakley, but until 1906 competition was restricted to participation in Conference meets only (State, New England). Moakley was succeeded by Denny O'Brien and it was under O'Brien that Maine first featured in the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association meet. In 1902 under O'Brien's successor John "Johnny" Mack Maine won its first MSM Championship. The 1902-1903 season was the first year of the mile relay team. The schedule was expanded in 1906 to include a dual meet with Tufts. Maine would win further MSM championships in 1906, 1907, 1913-1916, 1928, 1929, and seven further championships in the 1930's.

Maine would have multiple NEIAA individual winners and would finish runners up in 1914 and 1915. In 1915, Maine was admitted to the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association. In 1928 Chester A. Jenkins came to the University of Maine and would stay until 1956 during which time he would lead Maine to 16 Maine State cross country championships, three Yankee Conference, and six New England titles. The outdoor team would win 14 Maine state titles and two New England championships. He developed 11 championship relay teams and coached six national outdoor champions along with two indoor champions.

The 1927, 1928, 1929, and 1930 men's track teams won four straight New England Championships. 1948 was the first year the Yankee Conference held a meet. The 1961, 1962, 1963, 1964, and 1965 teams won Yankee Championships. Maine won the 1971-1972 and 1973 outdoor state crowns and 1975 and 1976 state invitational outdoor track & field championship.

Since 1989 the University of Maine has competed in the America East Conference (formerly known as the North Atlantic Conference). In 1995, Maine won the America East Conference Championship. University of Maine athletes have also won individual America East Conference titles. A number of student athletes have gone on to the Olympics.

Notable student athletes include the hammer thrower Edmund Black who would go on to represent the U.S. at the 1928 Olympics, Ken Black 1935 national indoor 800 meter champion, Alton Bell 1936 national outdoor javelin champion, 1930's national cross champion Harry Richardson, Donald Favor who was the 1934 national hammer throw champion and would become a AAU All-American and member of the 1936 U.S. Olympic team, and All-American Robert Bennett who was the 1939 and 1940 national hammer champion, 1940 national indoor 351b weight champion and would represent the U.S. at the 1948 Olympics and national junior and senior AAU hammer champion and All-American Stanley Johnson, and George Marsanskis the 1948 national indoor 35 1b weight champion.

Men Indoor Track: Indoor track for men at the University of Maine goes back to 1902-03 with the establishment of a mile relay team. The 1926 construction of the Memorial Fieldhouse (honoring the soldiers who served in World War One) facilitated the creation of a formal track program. At the time of its construction it was the second largest building of its kind in the country.

The first indoor track team appeared in the winter of 1925-1926. Prior to that season, the University fielded a relay team (mile / two mile). The University of Maine were members of the Yankee Conference from 1963-1980. As well as having a number of individual champions the University of Maine hosted and won the first indoor Yankee Conference Championship in 1964. Maine were state champions in 1972. Since 1989 the University of Maine has competed in the America East Conference and in 1997 were runners up to New Hampshire. University of Maine athletes have also won individual America East Conference titles.

Women's Outdoor Track: The Maine women's track team have been competing in outdoor track since 1976, but its first official varsity season was 1981. Jim Ballinger was the first women's track coach for both the indoor and outdoor teams and remained in that post from 1976 to 1994.

Maine have had two individual champions in the Eastern College Athletic Conference; Ann Turbyne (1978-79) and Viktoriya Rybalko (2002-03) who were both All-Americans. Turbyne also qualified for the AIAW national championship meet and finished third in the shot put. That gave her a place on the U.S. Olympic Team. Rybalko was a six-time New England champion indoors, twice outdoors, and won 10 America East titles. She was a first-team All-American as the result of finishing second in the long jump at the NCAA National Championships in 2003.

Men Cross Country: Cross country at the University of Maine officially started in 1911 under Coach Arthur N. Smith. Maine competed in the first Maine State Cross Country Championships and would continue competing in this Championship through to 1985 (the meet was dropped from 1950-1967). In 1966 under Coach Ed Styrna the team posted the eleventh consecutive winning seasonal record.

Also, for 13 seasons between 1981 and 1993 Maine competed in a championship race conducted by the E.I.A.A. This organization consisted of 21 New England colleges and universities in NCAA Divisions I and II teams. Maine were champions in 1992, finished second place in 1983, and third place in 1982 and 1991.

Biographical / Historical

University of Maine (then known as the Maine State College) students began playing baseball in the late 1870's. The 1881 team was the first officially-sponsored University of Maine team sport. Maine teams were student-directed until 1894 when Harry Miller became the first faculty coach.

In 1937, the team joined the New England Conference which they won in 1938 and played in until 1943. Notable players included Harold Woodbury and Clarence Keegan who went on to represent the U.S. at the Olympics.

From 1949 to 1979 the team played in the Yankee Conference. The University of Maine won its first Yankee Conference in 1950. However, it's under the tenure of head coach Jack Butterfield (1957-1964) that the Maine baseball team had arguably one of its most successful periods. Under Butterfield the team had a record of 240 wins and 169 losses. Butterfield's best season was in 1964 when the team went 21-8 and won the Yankee Conference outright to qualify for the program's first NCAA Tournament and placed 3rd in the College World Series. Butterfield was named 1964 NCAA Coach of the Year and New England Coach of the Year and Maine's Joe Ferris was named the tournament's Most Outstanding Player. In Butterfield's 17 seasons at Maine, the team won eight Maine State Series (a competition between Maine, Bowdoin, Colby, and Bates) and shared three other Yankee Conference titles, but did not qualify for another NCAA Tournament. At the end of the 1974 season Butterfield left Maine to become head coach at South Florida.

In 1975, Maine were again Yankee Conference champion under Butterfield's successor John Wilkin (1975-1996). Wilkin was Maine's most successful coach with an overall record of 642-430-3 and led Maine to 10 NCAA Tournaments and 6 College World Series. His teams included nine future Major League Baseball players: Mike Bordick, Kevin Buckley, Fred Howard, Joe Johnson, Jeff Plympton, Bert Roberge, Mark Sweeney, Bill Swift, and Larry Thomas. From 1982-1989 Maine played in the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference.

Since 1990 Maine have been a member of the America East Conference (formerly known as the North Atlantic Conference) and have been Conference champions on seven occasions.

Since the early 1980's the team has played at the Mahaney Diamond named for its chief benefactor, the late Larry K. Mahaney (Class of 1951).

Men's ice hockey grew out of club sports in the early 1900's, but did not become a varsity sport until the 1922-1923 season under Coach Joseph Murphy. Issues with the team's outdoor surface meant that the sport was dropped after only two seasons. It was not until 1977 that a hockey program was established at the University of Maine under Coach Jack Semler and the team started playing at the Alford Arena in the Eastern College Athletic Conference. In 1978 Maine won the ECAC East regular season. In 1979, Maine was granted Division 1 status.

In 1984, the team joined the newly formed Hockey East Conference. During the tenure of Steve Walsh as head coach (1984-2011) the team won two NCAA Division 1 National Championships in 1993 and 1999. The team also appeared in seven NCAA Frozen Fours, eleven NCAA Tournaments, and were East Conference Tournament champions five times. Post-Walsh the team won the 2004 East Conference title.

Maine has had a number of its players go on to play professionally.
